Official Praises Globe Progress

The foresight of Globe Refractories, Inc., to invest in its future and that of the community was commended by West Virginia Commerce Secretary Angus Peyton at dedication ceremonies for the firm's new $3.5 million automated pouring pit plant Thursday.

Some 120 representatives of industry, government and civic groups attended the program, which included a tour of the new facility at the plant just south of Newell, followed by a luncheon at the Holiday Inn at Waterford Park race track.

Peyton substituted for Gov. Hulett Smith who was invited with others at the southern Governors' conference in North Carolina to Washington Thursday by President Lyndon Johnson.

William F. Porter, president of Globe, spoke briefly at the luncheon, saying, "This is a significant day for Globe, representing a long step into the future."

The new facility uses completely automated methods of pressing, storing, handling and firing refractory brick, and is capable of producing 22 million a year.

PRODUCTION was begun about two months ago at the plant which is termed the largest and most highly automated of its kind in the world.

Porter said the new plant is a part of long-range plans for expansion.

He said such growth and modernization is vital to maintaining competitive position, and that "all systems are go" at Globe for new programs and product diversification.

Globe recently added to its output line refractory sleeves, nozzles and pocket blocks for hot steel ladles.

Porter said the firm's investment serves its employes, its shareholders and the community, and exemplifies Globe's faith in the future of the country.

Peyton expressed the governor's disappointment at not being able to attend, but said he was more than glad to be there himself.

He commended the firm's executives for developing the new facility, and went on to say, "There is always talk by some unknowing people about automation not being good, that it causes job displacement."

Romney Hat Sails Closer GOP Presidential Ring

But the Michigan Republican said he had made no decision on when he might formally announce his candidacy.

He was scheduled to make a walking and driving tour in two poverty areas of Brooklyn today and confer with top city officials from the police department, planning commission and human resources administration.

Romney talked politics and issues over dinner Thursday night with New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and afterward acknowledged, "I have a good feeling."

Romney had declined to discuss politics during a 19-day coast-to-coast tour which he insists is "nonpolitical" and aimed at finding possible solutions to big city racial problems.

But after dining at Rockefeller's Fifth Avenue apartment, Romney eased his vow of silence at an informal late-night news conference at the hotel he is using as headquarters during his three-day stay in New York.

He and Rockefeller, Romney said, talked over a whole range of issues, including politics and public reaction to Romney.

There have been published reports that Rockefeller, one of Romney's chief boosters, had urged that his brother Republican speed up a formal announcement of his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination next year.

Romney declined to comment on whether he and Rockefeller had talked about that.

Weekend Scheduled To Be Near Perfect

Another near - perfect weekend appears in prospect so far as the weather is concerned.

The five-day forecast says temperatures should average near normal through Monday, with highs in the 70's and lows in the 50's.

Cooler weather the first of next week will be accompanied by showers averaging around one-half inch, the weatherman says.

Truck Tieup May Bring Layoffs In Steel Plants

2 Vehicles Fired On In New Unrest

Shipments Are Hit Harder In Virtual Complete Stoppage

An almost complete standstill of steel truck shipments as a result of an independent haulers' strike — marked by new violence in this area Thursday and today — may bring layoffs in steel plants shortly.

The Crucible Steel Co., U. S. Steel, Jones & Laughlin, Bethlehem Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. report they are feeling the pinch of the shipping shutdown.

One spokesman said the industry may have to lay off men next week if the strike continues, piling up steel at plants and warehouses.

PRODUCTION schedules actually have not been affected yet at Crucible, although the present shipment by truck has been greatly slowed.

Much of the steel output was shipped at the end of August, and the pressure of the hauling blockage is not expected to become critical for some days.

Youngstown Sheet & Tube officers said two open hearths will be shut down next week and blowing in of another blast furnace has been delayed. Additional cutbacks will be made if the strike continues.

TWO MORE truckers reported being fired at in the western part of Columbiana County, while more shootings were reported in western Pennsylvania.

Shots were aimed at two more trucks early this morning on Route 30 between Lisbon and Minerva, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reports.

The incidents both occurred between 3 and 4 and involved an East Liverpool and Wellsville man.

Joseph Andrews of Park Blvd. told officers he noticed the trailer of his rig "dragging" at Queen's Gardens, about 10 miles west of Lisbon. He discovered four tires flattened from gunshots, but was not able to say where the shots had been fired. He was operating a truck owned by the Commercial Freight Line of Canton.

A short time later, an empty tank truck driven by Michael J. Hinton, 22, of Wellsville RD 1 was fired upon on Route 30 near Minerva.

In Muddy Mekong Delta 45 Miles From Saigon

GI Combat Team Storms Ashore, Locks With Reds In Bloody Battle

SAIGON (AP) — A crack American Army combat team stormed ashore from river gunboats today, flushed 500 hardcore guerrillas in the muddy Mekong delta and locked with them in a bloody battle.

Initial reports told of continuing fighting in the rainswept paddyfields 45 miles southwest of Saigon.

Communist gunners shot a strafing F100 U.S. Sabre Jet from the skies, but the pilot ejected about four miles from the raging battle and a helicopter rescued him.

The eruption of fighting in the delta paralleled continued heavy Communist pressure along South Vietnam's northern rim where artillery and mortar duels spanned the Demilitarized Zone and high-flying B52 bombers drubbed suspected Red staging areas with tons of bombs.

With heavy weather again limiting missions over North Vietnam, U. S. fighter-bombers also concentrated on the DMZ battlefront where all signs point to a powerful Red buildup.

The guerrilla battalion caught in the Mekong delta was a companion unit to the hard-core 514th Battalion which lost 134 dead in the same area only two days before. That outfit had gone into battle with new green fatigues and jaunty red scarves, indicating its elite status.

The battle today broke out shortly after dawn as a battalion of the U. S. 9th Infantry Division disembarked from gunboats that pushed up the Rach Ba River, which flows sluggishly into the Mekong.

As the infantrymen hit the beach they were struck by fire from machine guns and recoilless rifles. The Navy gunboats opened up with cannon and mortar fire.

A second American battalion moved up in support and a third battalion swept into blocking positions just to the north, putting some 2,000 Americans on the battlefield.

Jet planes from bases barely 10 minutes away began to rake the guerrilla battalion with bombs and rockets, churning the delta mud and ripping apart the bamboo stands where the Reds sought cover.

The infantry operation was a sample of the new delta tactic called riverine warfare in which quick-striking forces move by shallow-draft gunboats from Navy barracks ships moved close inshore. The battle today was in Dinh Tuong Province, where the Viet Cong was virtually unopposed until the riverine forces moved in early this year.

In the north along the Demilitarized Zone, U.S. Headquarters reported 15 Marines were killed and 58 were wounded by Communist mortars, rockets and artillery in the past 24 hours.

The focus of the recent Red attacks there has been the big Marine fortress at Con Thien, just below the DMZ and directly astride the coastal route to the South.

Two heavy B52 strikes went into the area above Con Thien before dawn, one inside the Demilitarized Zone and one about three miles inside North Vietnam where the Communists have emplaced heavy long-range guns supplied by the Soviet Union.

To fight the big bombers the Communists have been attempting— for the second time in the war—to get their big high-flying SAM — surface-to-air — missiles down within range.

When the North Vietnamese succeeded in installing SAMs in the area earlier this year, the B52s were pulled back to targets farther south for two months until the sites were wiped out. Much of the current air effort is directed at seeing that the Reds do not put the missiles there again.

Continuing bad weather restricted the raids on North Vietnam to 71 missions Thursday, far below the average of about 150 missions in the past few months of relatively good weather.

All reported targets were on supply routes along the coastal panhandle, well below the heavily clouded Hanoi and Haiphong area.

The U.S. Command announced that the United States has lost 677 combat planes over North Vietnam, two more than previously revealed.

LBJ's Claim On Morality Is Challenged

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — President Johnson's statement that he doesn't think morality is declining in the United States has drawn a rejoinder from evangelist Billy Graham.

Johnson made his statement in a speech here Thursday before the International Association of Police Chiefs. But Graham, who is conducting a crusade in Kansas City, told 23,000 persons he disagreed.

"Anyone who sees the tide of pornography on the newstands and on the motion picture screens, the rising illegitimacy and venereal disease rates, would have to agree that there is a decline of national standards and values," Graham said.

The President, while condemning the "wretched, vulgar men" he said spawned this summer's riots in the cities, also declared: "The responsibility this nation has shown in meeting its human obligations at home and abroad convinces me that America is morally strong today."

Bargaining Resumed In Ford Strike

DETROIT (AP) — Negotiators for Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers return to the bargaining table today with no indication that they can bring a quick end to the union's strike against Ford, now in its ninth day.

Both sides have met only once since bargaining broke off Sept. 7 after midnight, and that was just to set up today's parley.

Close to 160,000 workers are off the jobs at Ford's operations in 25 states.

The top items on what the union calls its "longest and most ambitious list of demands" yet made are not on today's agenda.

Chief, Bettis Will Discuss Jury Criticism Of Police

Police Chief A. J. Radeschi was to meet with Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis early this afternoon at Lisbon to discuss criticism leveled at the East Liverpool police department Wednesday in the grand jury's report.

The chief said he will seek the facts behind the panel's allegation that cases presented by the local department have been marked by "conflicting dates, insufficient witnesses and lack of evidence."

"I want to find out what happened so I can straighten it out," the chief said. "I don't know specifically what brought about the criticism by the grand jury, but when I have the facts I will take the proper steps to make any corrections that seem indicated."

The chief added that the East Liverpool department has built up a good reputation "through the hard work and dedication of the officers."

"East Liverpool is the biggest city in Columbiana County and it also is the cleanest city in the county," he said. "So far as I am concerned, it will remain the cleanest city in the county."

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Stoking her fury in the warm Caribbean, killer hurricane Beulah whirled toward the Gulf of Mexico today while turnabout hurricane Doria menaced New England beaches.

Beulah's cyclonic arms threatened western Cuba and the Yucatan Peninsula as she churned northwestward, 350 miles south of Havana and about 500 miles southwest of Miami.

Forecasters at the National Hurriance Center in Miami said the storm—blamed for 18 deaths before she lost much of her force earlier in the week—was rapidly regaining intensity. At mid-morning her top winds exceeded 85 miles an hour.

Teacher Strike In 5th Day

No Formal Talks Slated In New York School Rift

NEW YORK (AP)—The city's public school strike was in its fifth day today, with no formal negotiations scheduled and fewer and fewer of the 1.1 million pupils showing up for the makeshift classes.

The city Board of Education, which rejected a union bid for new talks, was back in court trying to have the union's top three officers jailed and the union itself fined.

Negotiations, some open and some secret, took place earlier in the week, but with no apparent success.

School Supt. Bernard E. Donovan said Thursday he told Albert Shanker, president of the striking AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers, there was "not much point in rehearsing the same things."

A hearing on criminal contempt charges brought by the city against Shanker and two other union officials was postponed at the union's request until today by State Supreme Court Justice Emilion Nunez.

Growing Negro unrest over the tie-up erupted Thursday night when a group described as Black Power advocates blockaded a top school official in his office and demanded a part in negotiations.

Police arrested 12 persons on charges of criminally trespassing after they sought to prevent Acting School Supt. Nathan Brown from leaving his office. He had listened to them first for an hour.

It was the most serious incident since the 49,000-member UFT began their strike Monday, the start of the fall school term, over wages, working conditions and policy issues.

Earlier both sides agreed the tie-up could last a long time. "It may very well be that this difficult situation may last for some time," said Donovan. "At the moment it does not look very optimistic."

Their parents refused to let them cross the picket lines.

The UFT is seeking a wage scale for teachers of $7,500 to $18,000 a year as opposed to the present scale of $5,400 to $11,950. A special three-man mediation panel recommended a scale of $6,600 to $13,600 a year.

The city said the package would cost $125 million over two years.

Among the nonsalary issues are union demands for smaller classes and greater teacher initiative in handling disruptive pupils in the classroom.

The latter issues has caused considerable Negro opposition to the strike on grounds it would prove a racial weapon against Negro pupils in the hands of white teachers.

industry and in other industries years ago, but it has been shown that the new automated operations result in more jobs and in greater benefits to employes and communities."

"If we in West Virginia don't get involved in these new processes, we will lose out to competitors who do, he declared.

"I am tired of hearing about West Virginia's 'problems' and 'poverty.' I travel a lot in this state, and I have seen many new plants, many new developments, Peyton said.

"Last year alone $417 million was invested in new industry by men such as the officials of Globe who recognize the potential and need.

"You in the Panhandle more than elsewhere in the state realize the importance of regionalism, that what development takes place in Ohio or Pennsylvania carries over benefits in this state.

Peyton referred to Gov. Smith's mentioning to him recently that almost everywhere he went questions asked him concerned roads. He said the governor added that he discovered the governors of other states were faced with exactly the same questions about new highways and improvements.

PEYTON said highways in this area cost 2½ times as much as those in less hilly states. "We in West Virginia are very impatient about obtaining new schools and new roads, but we suddenly find that we must have the money to do these things."

"If West Virginians don't believe in West Virginia, if they don't realize their influence extends to other areas, we aren't going to succeed with our programs. We must keep our young people from traveling elsewhere, we must give them job opportunities to retain them."

"We must show them West Virginia is where the action is, where the future is," he concluded.

Robert Boyce, master of ceremonies, paid tribute to the Porter family and others of Globe Refractories, referring to the role the firm has played in development and service to the East Liverpool area communities.

He introduced J. Bennett Porter, chairman of the board of Globe and son of the founder of the firm.

Others introduced were State Sen. William Tompos; State Sen. Chester Hubbard; Miss Callie Tsapis, House of Delegates member; Jack Evans, president of the Hancock County Court, Mayor Burton Ward of Chester; Mayor George Willshaw of East Liverpool, and Sidney Porter and Robert Eberle, Globe vice presidents.

GLOBE WAS founded in 1870 at New Cumberland by Capt. John Porter. The firm first went into production of ladle brick in 1892, supplying Andrew Carnegie with lining for mills at Pittsburgh.

All four of Capt. Porter's sons were involved in management, and today the third generation of the family is operating Globe, one of the oldset in the industry and one of the few which has maintained family ownership and management for almost a century.

Construction of the new facility began in March 1966, the result of design by Sidney Porter Jr., vice president of operations. The first fire brick was shipped in July.

The plant has brought a 44 per cent increase in production capacity. The 4 - acre facility houses clay storage bins, presses, automatic setters, dryers and the 632-foot tunnel kiln.

Automation permits pre-programming of a full day's operations. Raw materials are automatically fed into dry presses where they are formed into bricks.

They are taken by conveyor to setting machines where they are stacked automatically on kiln cars which are moved through the drier and firing kiln sections, removed, inspected, placed on pallets and stored.

Other members of the management include William J. Curry, vice president sleeve and nozzle division; James Roslund, research director; Harry Shane, shipping manager; Walter Derda, plant superintendent; Richard Lee, mine superintendent, and Paul Hermann, treasurer.

Hoffa's Third Bid For New Trial Denied

CINCINNATI (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa's third motion for a new trial on jury-tampering charges has been overruled by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

U.S. District Judge Frank Wilson of Chattanooga, Tenn., denied the motion filed in behalf of Hoffa and three others earlier this year and the appeals court affirmed the ruling Thursday by a two-to-one decision.

A fourth motion alleging various irregularities during the 1964 trial at Chattanooga is still pending in the courts. Hoffa is serving an eight - year prison term and was also fined $10,000.

Hoffa's attorneys filed a series of affidavits by prostitutes and bellboys at the motel where the jurors stayed during the trial. The affidavits alleged that the marshal furnished some of the jurors with liquor and prostitutes.

The government filed counter-affidavits by the jurors and Judge Wilson overruled the defense motion.

Chief Judge Paul C. Weick and Judge Lester Cecil said in the majority opinion they felt Judge Wilson was justified in finding that the defense affidavits were insufficient.

Continuance Set In Local Hearing On Assault Case

A hearing for a 24-year-old West End man accused of assault and battery on a young woman Aug. 24 was interrupted in Municipal Court today when Judge Samuel M. Chertoff ruled the defendant could not present an alibi because he had not given the required three-days' prior notice to the prosecution.

Leonard Dorsey of Fairview St., the defendant, was granted a continuance until Sept. 28 to permit his counsel, George A. Aronson, and Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark to draw up an agreed statement of facts on the testimony of the complaining witness.

Aronson indicated he will appeal Judge Chertoff's ruling, contending that the statutory requirement for advance notice of an alibi applies only to felony cases, not to misdemeanors. He advised he will have a stenographer present to record the testimony when the case resumes.

The young woman testified Dorsey accosted her about 7 a. m. Aug. 24 on W. 7th St. as she was walking to work. She said she shouted at him, broke away and fled. Dorsey pleaded not guilty. In a separate case, he is accused of assault and battery on another woman Sept. 7. He also pleaded not guilty in the second case.

Twelve voters registered in the first four days of the week and 18 more recorded transfers —changes of address—the board reported. The drive also produced dozens of inquiries from persons wishing to assure themselves that their registration still is valid.

Chicago Negroes Hurl Rocks And Curse Policemen

CHICAGO (AP)—Negroes thronged the streets of a South Side neighborhood Thursday, hurling rocks and curses at police after a meeting protesting alleged police brutality.

The skirmishing and window-smashing began after the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee and other neighborhood groups held a street rally protesting the alleged police beating of an 18-year-old Forrestville High School girl student.

By the time it ended, some seven hours later, 13 persons —including 6 policemen—were injured and 47 persons were under arrest on charges including aggravated battery, mob action and disorderly conduct.

Almost 300 extra police were moved into the area around the high school. The street crowds, tossing rocks at passing cars and screaming insults, were estimated at 1,000 persons at times.

Joyce Brown, executive secretary of SNCC in Chicago, charged that the girl, Corrine Roby, 18, was beaten Tuesday by two policemen, one white and the other Negro. She said SNCC and other groups called a protest rally for noon near the high school.

U.S. Informs Hanoi Port Safe From Raid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon indirectly has let North Vietnam know its major port of Haiphong is safe from U.S. air attack—at least for the present.

In an unusual tip to an enemy, top Pentagon spokesman Phil G. Goulding said Thursday there's no truth to published reports that U.S. raiders have been given approval to attack the port of Haiphong. "Attacks on the port facilities are not approved," he said.

The statement followed air attacks earlier this week on the Port of Cam Pha and on facilities not far removed from Haiphong's dock areas.

The administration previously has given North Vietnam little indication that specific targets were off-limits to bombers.

"If West Virginians don't believe in West Virginia, if they don't realize their influence extends to other areas, we aren't going to succeed with our programs. We must keep our young people from traveling elsewhere, we must give them job opportunities to retain them."

"We must show them West Virginia is where the action is, where the future is," he concluded.

Robert Boyce, master of ceremonies, paid tribute to the Porter family and others of Globe Refractories, referring to the role the firm has played in development and service to the East Liverpool area communities.

He introduced J. Bennett Porter, chairman of the board of Globe and son of the founder of the firm.

Others introduced were State Sen. William Tompos; State Sen. Chester Hubbard; Miss Callie Tsapis, House of Delegates member; Jack Evans, president of the Hancock County Court, Mayor Burton Ward of Chester; Mayor George Willshaw of East Liverpool, and Sidney Porter and Robert Eberle, Globe vice presidents.

GLOBE WAS founded in 1870 at New Cumberland by Capt. John Porter. The firm first went into production of ladle brick in 1892, supplying Andrew Carnegie with lining for mills at Pittsburgh.

All four of Capt. Porter's sons were involved in management, and today the third generation of the family is operating Globe, one of the oldset in the industry and one of the few which has maintained family ownership and management for almost a century.

Construction of the new facility began in March 1966, the result of design by Sidney Porter Jr., vice president of operations. The first fire brick was shipped in July.

The plant has brought a 44 per cent increase in production capacity. The 4 - acre facility houses clay storage bins, presses, automatic setters, dryers and the 632-foot tunnel kiln.

Automation permits pre-programming of a full day's operations. Raw materials are automatically fed into dry presses where they are formed into bricks.

They are taken by conveyor to setting machines where they are stacked automatically on kiln cars which are moved through the drier and firing kiln sections, removed, inspected, placed on pallets and stored.

Other members of the management include William J. Curry, vice president sleeve and nozzle division; James Roslund, research director; Harry Shane, shipping manager; Walter Derda, plant superintendent; Richard Lee, mine superintendent, and Paul Hermann, treasurer.

Hoffa's Third Bid For New Trial Denied

CINCINNATI (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa's third motion for a new trial on jury-tampering charges has been overruled by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

U.S. District Judge Frank Wilson of Chattanooga, Tenn., denied the motion filed in behalf of Hoffa and three others earlier this year and the appeals court affirmed the ruling Thursday by a two-to-one decision.

A fourth motion alleging various irregularities during the 1964 trial at Chattanooga is still pending in the courts. Hoffa is serving an eight - year prison term and was also fined $10,000.

Hoffa's attorneys filed a series of affidavits by prostitutes and bellboys at the motel where the jurors stayed during the trial. The affidavits alleged that the marshal furnished some of the jurors with liquor and prostitutes.

The government filed counter-affidavits by the jurors and Judge Wilson overruled the defense motion.

Chief Judge Paul C. Weick and Judge Lester Cecil said in the majority opinion they felt Judge Wilson was justified in finding that the defense affidavits were insufficient.

Continuance Set In Local Hearing On Assault Case

A hearing for a 24-year-old West End man accused of assault and battery on a young woman Aug. 24 was interrupted in Municipal Court today when Judge Samuel M. Chertoff ruled the defendant could not present an alibi because he had not given the required three-days' prior notice to the prosecution.

Leonard Dorsey of Fairview St., the defendant, was granted a continuance until Sept. 28 to permit his counsel, George A. Aronson, and Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark to draw up an agreed statement of facts on the testimony of the complaining witness.

Aronson indicated he will appeal Judge Chertoff's ruling, contending that the statutory requirement for advance notice of an alibi applies only to felony cases, not to misdemeanors. He advised he will have a stenographer present to record the testimony when the case resumes.

The young woman testified Dorsey accosted her about 7 a. m. Aug. 24 on W. 7th St. as she was walking to work. She said she shouted at him, broke away and fled. Dorsey pleaded not guilty. In a separate case, he is accused of assault and battery on another woman Sept. 7. He also pleaded not guilty in the second case.

Board Notes Increase In Voter Registration

An all - out voter registration campaign launched a week ago has produced a decided increase in the number of enrollments and transfers, the County Election Board staff reported Thursday.

Twelve voters registered in the first four days of the week and 18 more recorded transfers —changes of address—the board reported. The drive also produced dozens of inquiries from persons wishing to assure themselves that their registration still is valid.

Registration for the Nov. 7 general election will close Wednesday, Sept. 27. East Liverpool is the only community in the county where voters are required to register.

Police Problem And Solution

Considerable heat was generated Wednesday by the Columbiana County Grand Jury report criticizing East Liverpool police for alleged slip shod work in presentation of cases, and it was not until Thursday that some light appeared, seeming to point the way to mutual ground on which city and county authorities could meet to seek solutions.

The Grand Jury's brief statement was couched in such general terms that it could mean everything or nothing, depending upon individual interpretations and prejudices. There was an understandable stir at City Hall on the part of the police force and the administration.

The light began to break over the shadowy questions when Prosecutor J. Warren Bettis issued amplifying remarks yesterday at Lisbon.

Bettis said he would like to meet with Mayor George E. Willshaw, Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey and Police Chief A. J. Radeschi "to try to find an answer." He added that he would be willing to help set up a course in investigating procedure for the local department.

A CONFERENCE between the prosecutor and the affected municipal officials seems to be a logical first step toward achieving fuller cooperation between Bettis office and the police department. After all, they're both branches of the law enforcement field.

Bettis' proposal for a course in investigating procedure also is a logical step toward a solution. If his office can spell out to East Liverpool officers the details required on reports to the Grand Jury, there will be no real reason for non-compliance in the future.

The prosecutor touched on one of the local problems in pointing out that the city has few funds with which to reimburse officers for overtime work. If an officer is investigating a late-breaking felony case at 5 a.m. and his shift ends at 8, he has two choices. He can drop the whole thing and go home to bed or he can continue to work on his own time.

The local officers are reimbursed to some extent for overtime work. But they put in many hours in investigation of felonies — and misdemeanors, too — for which their only reward is a sense of duty accomplished.

Because of some things that happened in the past, but have not been dispelled from the public's memory completely, there was a tendency on the part of some persons to read into the Grand Jury's criticism far more than was intended.

THIS IS unfortunate, because it was a blow at the morale of men who have improved their professional conduct and their service to the community immeasurably in the last 10 years.

The public should remember these salient facts: East Liverpool's police department is headed by an honest man and the force is comprised of men who, by and large, are just as competent and hard working as any officers in the nation.

The general quality of the local investigative work and the written reports which it produces are far, far higher than they were a decade or two ago.

There is no reason for East Liverpool to lose confidence in its police force. Instead, the city officials and the public generally should offer understanding and encouragement as the officers seek to overcome the Grand Jury's criticism by gathering up loose ends and deciding to do their jobs with more determination than ever.

Community Action

The first drops of water moving through the new mains in the Lawrenceville area near Chester symbolized years of planning, hard work and community support.

Trustees of the water district, the various county and Chester authorities who cooperated, and the residents of the Lawrenceville area themselves are to be commended for this successful project.

The new system means convenient, healthy water for the homes, improved fire protection, a spur to further residential development and an inspiration for other works.

This is a small but important part of the pattern of progress being set across the tri-state district and can serve as an example of community improvement in action.

Pilot Shortage No Accident

A Senate armed services subcommittee reports the U.S. pilot shotage will extend into the 1970s.

The lack of measures to offset the Vietnam piot drain has brought on a 17,000-man deficiency.

Sen. John Stennis is chairman of the subcommittee and lists several reasons for the shortage uncovered in months of investigation and testimony.

Some of the causes listed in the report include: "Absence of an adequate wartime 'surge' capacility, significant increases in attrition rates and inadequate pilot production programs."

The report apparently failed to take into account that phasing out of manned aircraft became a part of U.S. military strategy early in the 1960s.

The policy coincided with a buildup of missile strength as the nation's prime defense program.

With heavier reliance on missiles, the need for conventional aircraft and pilots diminished in the eyes of the Defense Department. At that time no one knew the Vietnam commitment was going to mushroom into a conflict that consumed planes and pilots in great gulps along thousands of other men and billions of dollars in equipment and supplies.

The pilot shortage did not occur by accident. The steps leading up to it were calculated and executed with top-level authority because it was believed that conventional warfare was outdated.

Early in the 1960s Nikita Khrushchev was hurling missile threats and challenges at the United States regularly. In July 1962, he said the Soviet Union had a global rocket that could not be destroyed by any anti-rocket means and also had an anti-missile missile capable of hitting "a fly in outer space."

The United States issued counter challenges and hurried into the missile strength policy while phasing out conventional programs.

The "missile gap" was a 1960 campaign illusion but "missile strength" became a reality under the John F. Kennedy administration.

Today's pilot shortage also is a reality, but not because of happenstance. It has been the goal of the Defense Department since Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced de-emphasis of conventional defense methods in 1961.

Pick One Of Three

A crazy situation exists in federal taxation.

Representatives and senators returning to Washington after a Labor Day recess are reporting violent opposition to any additional taxation. Their constituents want the federal government to plug loopholes and cut back spending before it fools around with heavier taxes.

No one would give a plugged nickel for the chances of loophole-plugging or expense-cutting. Though government has a choice, it will move infallibly toward addition of more taxes.

It will do this because it is easier to raise taxes and let taxpayers suffer the consequences than to plug loopholes and incur the wrath of those who have been wriggling through them.

It will do it because it is easier to raise taxes than to cut back on spending and face the anger of all the special interests who would be affected by an economy program.

There is a special problem about both tax reform and expense cutting. It arises from the fact that the same people opposed to tax reform and expense cutting are strongly and vocally opposed to tax increases.

Legislators are damned if they do, damned if they don't.

As long as they are going to lose either way, they understandably take the easiest way out. They raise taxes and let taxpayers do the worrying. They know the wealthy ones will find more loopholes. They know the rest will assuage their grief by twisting more money out of the government for their pet projects.

And that's why taxes keep going up and up and up.

Teachers Strike For Power

NEW YORK: — Blackboard power is the name of the game, actually. When the doors are tightly closed on the chalk-room crowd's inner sanctum, teachers' union leaders talk excitedly about eventually administering a vast single organization of some 2 million instructors — in parochial as well as public schools, in universities as well as improvised poverty schools.

Victor Riesel

Basically and bluntly that's why the teachers here hit the bricks. Their leaders were determined that the AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers (UFT) would deliver the juiciest contract ever. This would make it the real power bloc in the small parent American Federation of Teachers (AFT) — which in turn they hope to make the launching pad for the campaign against the 1,030,000-member National Education Assn. (NEA).

Out of such a foundation could come the thurst for leadership of a "new-breed" American labor movement in a decade or two. Remember that the New York strike leader, UFT president Al Shanker, is 38 years old.

True, there are nasty immediate issues which few here mention publicly in polite society. Some of these issues are the same as those which affect the firemen and telephone workers in high crime areas. The communications repairmen are frightened to go in. So are the teachers. They have long wanted some sort of authority to handle "disruptive students." There is evidence of thousands of incidents involving muggers, rapists, knife wielders, narcotics pushers and the like, right in the corridors. And when the winter comes on with its early darkness, teachers gather for a swift dash to the buses and subways.

True, there is a matter of money. But the contracts are short term. What the UFT doesn't get this time, it will get from an insolvent city next time.

The real issue, therefore, is blackboard power among the teachers of the land. Fact is that the AFL-CIO teachers union — despite all the hubbub and brick pounding — has not done so well in academic circles.

Back about 1960 the AFT had some 50,000 members. Then came Walter Reuther and his AFL-CIO Industrial Union Dept. They sent in organisers. They put a steady staff into New York. They revamped the AFT's Chicago office. They put militant little Charley Cogen in a bright new saddle. Since 1961 they have poured in $1.1 million. They did right well in New York where it is impossible not to do right well on the labor front.

They enrolled some 49,000 members. And when they had the original membership and the newcomers all totaled up across the land, they found they had 140,000. This meant that outside of New York they had picked up about 40,000 dues payers.

And the AFT totaled its contract and found the other day that it has pacts in 41 school districts. Not much compared with the 1,336 exclusive NEA contracts covering 650,000 certificated teachers in 45 states. Thus the so-called militant teachers who now are strinking regularly under the AFT leadership have 3 per cent of the exclusive bargaining contracts compared with the 93.7 per cent negotiated by the 100-year-old NEA.

THE SO-CALLED OLD LADY of the teaching business turns out to be a mighty spry chick. It has not gone to pot with slower power. When the AFT teachers began moving, there was parallel NEA action. The Washington-based association — housed in a big block-long structure and employing about 1,000 staffers—began collective bargaining five years ago. These pacts are negotiated by officials of the NEA's 8000 local affiliates in 56 state units.

They can get tough, too, though they don't hit the bricks. In Florida early in June, for example, the Education Assn. voted $100,000 for a campaign to warn industry from moving into the state until the authorities met the teachers' demands. I was in Tallahasse then and inquired to see if they were serious. They certainly were — and are. In Washington the other day I was told that the Florida Education Assn. still surveyed the state to learn where the big companies were looking for location sites, and then devised strategy for constant contact with the corporations.

"We've contacted such firms as IBM, Union Carbide, etc.," said a spokesman "with telegrams, letters and personal messages to stay out of the state."

The NEA makes no fetish of militancy, however. Under its current president, Braulio Alonso, a Tampa, Fla., high school principal on leave, the huge organization runs a vast enterprise made up of 17 headquarters dicisions, 33 departments, one institute, and 25 commissions and committees. It's a professional organization such as the American Medical Assn. And it has no more intention of yielding to the strike-happy unionists than the doctors have of throwing away their stethescopes and loops.

So the struggle goes. Blackboard power will mean — eventually — terrific influence over the nation's youth. There is the real issue.

Letter To The Editor

I would like to make an explanation of arrangements which were made with business places concerning trucks on Virginia Ave.—a situation aired at the Chester Council Monday night when I was absent.

There were originally a 3-ton limit signs placed at Virginia and 1st and 3rd Sts. late in the 1950's.

Because of an increase in truck traffic, I asked Council for more signs—at the bridges at 2nd and 3rd Sts. and at the entrances to Virginia and California Aves. — to keep out all trucks except for deliveries.

Later, Police Chief Audley Campbell and I were asked by two business places about a problem involving both firms. If trucks pulled into those places to be serviced, the driver was forced because of the sign to back onto Carolina Ave. at a dangerous bend.

The Chief and I gave permission at 2nd St. for trucks to proceed to Virginia Ave., turn left so as to put them back on Route 30. At 3rd St. permission was given to proceed to Virginia Ave. but instead of traveling the full length of the street, to turn back and return to Carolina Ave.

Two complaints were received about the 3rd St. change, and the Chief and I talked to one of the people who was understanding. The other person was out of town.

There seems to be doubt about whether the Chief and I could authorize these arrangements, and frankly we may have been wrong. If so, the Mayor can give notice that our decisions no longer stand.

So far as the safety conditions of the bridges are concerned, I would say if we had no trucks on them in the past few years we would have no bridges. If they are not safe, why doesn't the railroad repair or replace them?

The fact is the signs are in place, and if the Mayor wants to enforce the ordinance, he can order the Chief to do so.

It would like to have the names of the people complaining so I can go talk to them about it.

I want to say that Chief Campbell and I did not give permission for truck use of Virginia Ave. to the truck service center at 3rd St.

The arrangements in this were understood by others besides me and the Chief, but they are reluctant to commit themselves at the Council meeting.

Control

Someday, when the story is written telling what really went on behind the scenes in Washington during the Vietnam War, there may be a clearer idea of the current differences between civilian control and military authority than is discernible today.

It's an open secret the military chiefs believe lives have been wasted and in the future there will be more casualties than necessary if supercautious and procrastinating policies of civilian officials keep on frustrating the American military effort in Vietnam.

This is not to say, of course, that those inside our government who believe in the supremacy of the civilian authority are failing to render a conscientious judgment. It does mean that misconceptions of military strategy are prevalent.

McGeorge Bundy — formerly special assistant to President Johnson and now chairman of the President's Advisory Commission on the Middle East — wrote a letter to the Washington Post the other day criticizing the summary report of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee of which Sen. John Stennis, Democrat, is chairman.

He concedes the patriotism and dedication of the senators and says their "unanimous recommendation of wider air action seems impressive." But he disagrees with the argument they have made in support of it.

Mr. Bundy's chief point is that military men are merely "urging the value of their own chosen instrument — in this case military force."

But he thinks that in reaching its conclusions the subcommittee "pushes aside all political and diplomatic considerations — and all risks of wider conflict."

He adds:

"The subcommittee tells us simply to 'take the risks that have to be taken and apply the force that is required.' It thus neglects to examine what its own report calls the 'serious and legitimate question' of policy 'over and above purely military considerations.'"

Mr. Bundy declares, moreover, that the subcommittee "gives lip service to the principle of civilian control," but that it tends to deny the principle itself.

This is an age-old controversy. It has brought many a tragedy in the history of the world.

It will be recalled, for instance, that the top military men of this country almost unanimously insisted after the United States entered World War II that efforts be concentrated on landings in France, rather than go through the prolonged agony of an invasion from the North African and Mediterranean area into what Winston Churchill called the "soft underbelly" of Europe. The British prime minister's view prevailed.

There have been other examples in which military men have been overridden by civilians. The war in Vietnam is no exception.

America's military commanders have not been permitted to conduct the war there as they think it should have been fought.

Meanwhile, the United States has suffered tremendous losses while following a policy of delay and caution in bombing North Vietnam.

The issue was first raised in the 1964 presidential campaign, when the Democrats argued that the Republican candidate was likely to enlarge the war because he advocated bombing supply lines and bases in North Vietnam.

He was, of course, reflecting the military viewpoint. But within a few months after election the Johnson administration had to make a decision anyway to bomb North Vietnam. It has since gradually stepped up the effort, and now apparently is getting ready to intensify it again.

The public generally knows little about the meaning of the debates that go on in Washington between the military and civilians.

The concept of "civilian control" is often overemphasized. The military men are as conscious of risks as any other group of public officials, but they would prefer to fight hard to win in any war and would rather take heavy casualties for a short time than a steady loss mounting up year after year.

Police Problem And Solution

Considerable heat was generated Wednesday by the Columbiana County Grand Jury report criticizing East Liverpool police for alleged slip shod work in presentation of cases, and it was not until Thursday that some light appeared, seeming to point the way to mutual ground on which city and county authorities could meet to seek solutions.

The Grand Jury's brief statement was couched in such general terms that it could mean everything or nothing, depending upon individual interpretations and prejudices. There was an understandable stir at City Hall on the part of the police force and the administration.

The light began to break over the shadowy questions when Prosecutor J. Warren Bettis issued amplifying remarks yesterday at Lisbon.

Bettis said he would like to meet with Mayor George E. Willshaw, Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey and Police Chief A. J. Radeschi "to try to find an answer." He added that he would be willing to help set up a course in investigating procedure for the local department.

A CONFERENCE between the prosecutor and the affected municipal officials seems to be a logical first step toward achieving fuller cooperation between Bettis office and the police department. After all, they're both branches of the law enforcement field.

Bettis' proposal for a course in investigating procedure also is a logical step toward a solution. If his office can spell out to East Liverpool officers the details required on reports to the Grand Jury, there will be no real reason for non-compliance in the future.

The prosecutor touched on one of the local problems in pointing out that the city has few funds with which to reimburse officers for overtime work. If an officer is investigating a late-breaking felony case at 5 a.m. and his shift ends at 8, he has two choices. He can drop the whole thing and go home to bed or he can continue to work on his own time.

The local officers are reimbursed to some extent for overtime work. But they put in many hours in investigation of felonies — and misdemeanors, too — for which their only reward is a sense of duty accomplished.

Because of some things that happened in the past, but have not been dispelled from the public's memory completely, there was a tendency on the part of some persons to read into the Grand Jury's criticism far more than was intended.

THIS IS unfortunate, because it was a blow at the morale of men who have improved their professional conduct and their service to the community immeasurably in the last 10 years.

The public should remember these salient facts: East Liverpool's police department is headed by an honest man and the force is comprised of men who, by and large, are just as competent and hard working as any officers in the nation.

The general quality of the local investigative work and the written reports which it produces are far, far higher than they were a decade or two ago.

There is no reason for East Liverpool to lose confidence in its police force. Instead, the city officials and the public generally should offer understanding and encouragement as the officers seek to overcome the Grand Jury's criticism by gathering up loose ends and deciding to do their jobs with more determination than ever.

Community Action

The first drops of water moving through the new mains in the Lawrenceville area near Chester symbolized years of planning, hard work and community support.

Trustees of the water district, the various county and Chester authorities who cooperated, and the residents of the Lawrenceville area themselves are to be commended for this successful project.

The new system means convenient, healthy water for the homes, improved fire protection, a spur to further residential development and an inspiration for other works.

This is a small but important part of the pattern of progress being set across the tri-state district and can serve as an example of community improvement in action.

Pilot Shortage No Accident

A Senate armed services subcommittee reports the U.S. pilot shotage will extend into the 1970s.

The lack of measures to offset the Vietnam piot drain has brought on a 17,000-man deficiency.

Sen. John Stennis is chairman of the subcommittee and lists several reasons for the shortage uncovered in months of investigation and testimony.

Some of the causes listed in the report include: "Absence of an adequate wartime 'surge' capacility, significant increases in attrition rates and inadequate pilot production programs."

The report apparently failed to take into account that phasing out of manned aircraft became a part of U.S. military strategy early in the 1960s.

The policy coincided with a buildup of missile strength as the nation's prime defense program.

With heavier reliance on missiles, the need for conventional aircraft and pilots diminished in the eyes of the Defense Department. At that time no one knew the Vietnam commitment was going to mushroom into a conflict that consumed planes and pilots in great gulps along thousands of other men and billions of dollars in equipment and supplies.

The pilot shortage did not occur by accident. The steps leading up to it were calculated and executed with top-level authority because it was believed that conventional warfare was outdated.

Early in the 1960s Nikita Khrushchev was hurling missile threats and challenges at the United States regularly. In July 1962, he said the Soviet Union had a global rocket that could not be destroyed by any anti-rocket means and also had an anti-missile missile capable of hitting "a fly in outer space."

The United States issued counter challenges and hurried into the missile strength policy while phasing out conventional programs.

The "missile gap" was a 1960 campaign illusion but "missile strength" became a reality under the John F. Kennedy administration.

Today's pilot shortage also is a reality, but not because of happenstance. It has been the goal of the Defense Department since Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced de-emphasis of conventional defense methods in 1961.

Pick One Of Three

A crazy situation exists in federal taxation.

Representatives and senators returning to Washington after a Labor Day recess are reporting violent opposition to any additional taxation. Their constituents want the federal government to plug loopholes and cut back spending before it fools around with heavier taxes.

No one would give a plugged nickel for the chances of loophole-plugging or expense-cutting. Though government has a choice, it will move infallibly toward addition of more taxes.

It will do this because it is easier to raise taxes and let taxpayers suffer the consequences than to plug loopholes and incur the wrath of those who have been wriggling through them.

It will do it because it is easier to raise taxes than to cut back on spending and face the anger of all the special interests who would be affected by an economy program.

There is a special problem about both tax reform and expense cutting. It arises from the fact that the same people opposed to tax reform and expense cutting are strongly and vocally opposed to tax increases.

Legislators are damned if they do, damned if they don't.

As long as they are going to lose either way, they understandably take the easiest way out. They raise taxes and let taxpayers do the worrying. They know the wealthy ones will find more loopholes. They know the rest will assuage their grief by twisting more money out of the government for their pet projects.

And that's why taxes keep going up and up and up.

'Set 'Em Up In The Other Alley'

VICTOR RIESEL

Teachers Strike For Power

NEW YORK: — Blackboard power is the name of the game, actually. When the doors are tightly closed on the chalk-room crowd's inner sanctum, teachers' union leaders talk excitedly about eventually administering a vast single organization of some 2 million instructors — in parochial as well as public schools, in universities as well as improvised poverty schools.

Victor Riesel

Basically and bluntly that's why the teachers here hit the bricks. Their leaders were determined that the AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers (UFT) would deliver the juiciest contract ever. This would make it the real power bloc in the small parent American Federation of Teachers (AFT) — which in turn they hope to make the launching pad for the campaign against the 1,030,000-member National Education Assn. (NEA).

Out of such a foundation could come the thurst for leadership of a "new-breed" American labor movement in a decade or two. Remember that the New York strike leader, UFT president Al Shanker, is 38 years old.

True, there are nasty immediate issues which few here mention publicly in polite society. Some of these issues are the same as those which affect the firemen and telephone workers in high crime areas. The communications repairmen are frightened to go in. So are the teachers. They have long wanted some sort of authority to handle "disruptive students." There is evidence of thousands of incidents involving muggers, rapists, knife wielders, narcotics pushers and the like, right in the corridors. And when the winter comes on with its early darkness, teachers gather for a swift dash to the buses and subways.

True, there is a matter of money. But the contracts are short term. What the UFT doesn't get this time, it will get from an insolvent city next time.

The real issue, therefore, is blackboard power among the teachers of the land. Fact is that the AFL-CIO teachers union — despite all the hubbub and brick pounding — has not done so well in academic circles.

Back about 1960 the AFT had some 50,000 members. Then came Walter Reuther and his AFL-CIO Industrial Union Dept. They sent in organisers. They put a steady staff into New York. They revamped the AFT's Chicago office. They put militant little Charley Cogen in a bright new saddle. Since 1961 they have poured in $1.1 million. They did right well in New York where it is impossible not to do right well on the labor front.

They enrolled some 49,000 members. And when they had the original membership and the newcomers all totaled up across the land, they found they had 140,000. This meant that outside of New York they had picked up about 40,000 dues payers.

And the AFT totaled its contract and found the other day that it has pacts in 41 school districts. Not much compared with the 1,336 exclusive NEA contracts covering 650,000 certificated teachers in 45 states. Thus the so-called militant teachers who now are stinking regularly under the AFT leadership have 3 per cent of the exclusive bargaining contracts compared with the 93.7 per cent negotiated by the 100-year-old NEA.

THE SO-CALLED OLD LADY of the teaching business turns out to be a mighty spry chick. It has not gone to pot with slower power. When the AFT teachers began moving, there was parallel NEA action. The Washington-based association — housed in a big block-long structure and employing about 1,000 staffers—began collective bargaining five years ago. These pacts are negotiated by officials of the NEA's 8000 local affiliates in 56 state units.

They can get tough, too, though they don't hit the bricks. In Florida early in June, for example, the Education Assn. voted $100,000 for a campaign to warn industry from moving into the state until the authorities met the teachers' demands. I was in Tallahasse then and inquired to see if they were serious. They certainly were — and are. In Washington the other day I was told that the Florida Education Assn. still surveyed the state to learn where the big companies were looking for location sites, and then devised strategy for constant contact with the corporations.

"We've contacted such firms as IBM, Union Carbide, etc.," said a spokesman "with telegrams, letters and personal messages to stay out of the state."

The NEA makes no fetish of militancy, however. Under its current president, Braulio Alonso, a Tampa, Fla., high school principal on leave, the huge organization runs a vast enterprise made up of 17 headquarters divisions, 33 departments, one institute, and 25 commissions and committees. It's a professional organization such as the American Medical Assn. And it has no more intention of yielding to the strike-happy unionists than the doctors have of throwing away their stethescopes and loops.

So the struggle goes. Blackboard power will mean — eventually — terrific influence over the nation's youth. There is the real issue.

DAVID LAWRENCE

Control

Someday, when the story is written telling what really went on behind the scenes in Washington during the Vietnam War, there may be a clearer idea of the current differences between civilian control and military authority than is discernible today.

It's an open secret the military chiefs believe lives have been wasted and in the future there will be more casualties than necessary if supercautious and procrastinating policies of civilian officials keep on frustrating the American military effort in Vietnam.

This is not to say, of course, that those inside our government who believe in the supremacy of the civilian authority are failing to render a conscientious judgment. It does mean that misconceptions of military strategy are prevalent.

McGeorge Bundy — formerly special assistant to President Johnson and now chairman of the President's Advisory Commission on the Middle East — wrote a letter to the Washington Post the other day criticizing the summary report of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee of which Sen. John Stennis, Democrat, is chairman.

He concedes the patriotism and dedication of the senators and says their "unanimous recommendation of wider air action seems impressive." But he disagrees with the argument they have made in support of it.

Mr. Bundy's chief point is that military men are merely "urging the value of their own chosen instrument — in this case military force."

But he thinks that in reaching its conclusions the subcommittee "pushes aside all political and diplomatic considerations — and all risks of wider conflict."

He adds:

"The subcommittee tells us simply to 'take the risks that have to be taken and apply the force that is required.' It thus neglects to examine what its own report calls the 'serious and legitimate question' of policy 'over and above purely military considerations.'"

Mr. Bundy declares, moreover, that the subcommittee "gives lip service to the principle of civilian control," but that it tends to deny the principle itself.

This is an age-old controversy. It has brought many a tragedy in the history of the world.

It will be recalled, for instance, that the top military men of this country almost unanimously insisted after the United States entered World War II that efforts be concentrated on landings in France, rather than go through the prolonged agony of an invasion from the North African and Mediterranean area into what Winston Churchill called the "soft underbelly" of Europe. The British prime minister's view prevailed.

There have been other examples in which military men have been overridden by civilians. The war in Vietnam is no exception.

America's military commanders have not been permitted to conduct the war there as they think it should have been fought.

Meanwhile, the United States has suffered tremendous losses while following a policy of delay and caution in bombing North Vietnam.

The issue was first raised in the 1964 presidential campaign, when the Democrats argued that the Republican candidate was likely to enlarge the war because he advocated bombing supply lines and bases in North Vietnam.

He was, of course, reflecting the military viewpoint. But within a few months after election the Johnson administration had to make a decision anyway to bomb North Vietnam. It has since gradually stepped up the effort, and now apparently is getting ready to intensify it again.

The public generally knows little about the meaning of the debates that go on in Washington between the military and civilians.

The concept of "civilian control" is often overemphasized. The military men are as conscious of risks as any other group of public officials, but they would prefer to fight hard to win in any war and would rather take heavy casualties for a short time than a steady loss mounting up year after year.

Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Shippingport and Hookstown were among communities which rejected liquor and beer sales in a local option vote in Beaver County.

Forty attended a 'Ladies Night' program of the Wellsville Rotary Club. F. L. Wells was chairman.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — W. J. Beglin was named commander of Midland American Legion Post 461.

A wall of an East Palestine service station collapsed while excavation was under way to remove an 8,000 gallon tank. No one was hurt.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Johnson of Chester entertained a group of young people honoring the birthday of their daughter Betty Lou.

TEN YEARS AGO — Mayor George Scott of Chester dispatched a letter to the West Virginia Road Commission asking the SRC take over maintenance of Fairview and Lawrence Rds. within Chester.

Mrs. Claude Ruckman of Pennsylvania Ave. was hostess to the Renaissance Club for a program on U.S. traditions.

Wells High School of Newell opened its grid season with a 21-14 win over New Cumberland.

Berry's World

Letter To The Editor

I would like to make an explanation of arrangements which were made with business places concerning trucks on Virginia Ave.—a situation aired at the Chester Council Monday night when I was absent.

There were originally a 3-ton limit signs placed at Virginia and 1st and 3rd Sts. late in the 1950's.

Because of an increase in truck traffic, I asked Council for more signs—at the bridges at 2nd and 3rd Sts. and at the entrances to Virginia and California Aves. — to keep out all trucks except for deliveries.

Later, Police Chief Audley Campbell and I were asked by two business places about a problem involving both firms. If trucks pulled into those places to be serviced, the driver was forced because of the sign to back onto Carolina Ave. at a dangerous bend.

The Chief and I gave permission at 2nd St. for trucks to proceed to Virginia Ave., turn left so as to put them back on Route 30. At 3rd St. permission was given to proceed to Virginia Ave. but instead of traveling the full length of the street, to turn back and return to Carolina Ave.

Two complaints were received about the 3rd St. change, and the Chief and I talked to one of the people who was understanding. The other person was out of town.

There seems to be doubt about whether the Chief and I could authorize these arrangements, and frankly we may have been wrong. If so, the Mayor can give notice that our decisions no longer stand.

So far as the safety conditions of the bridges are concerned, I would say if we had no trucks on them in the past few years we would have no bridges. If they are not safe, why doesn't the railroad repair or replace them?

The fact is the signs are in place, and if the Mayor wants to enforce the ordinance, he can order the Chief to do so.

It would like to have the names of the people complaining so I can go talk to them about it.

I want to say that Chief Campbell and I did not give permission for truck use of Virginia Ave. to the truck service center at 3rd St.

The arrangements in this were understood by others besides me and the Chief, but they are reluctant to commit themselves at the Council meeting.

He pointed out that three officers completed courses recently at the Ohio State Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation in London and said he previously had laid plans for four to six more officers to attend specialized courses at the BCI in 1968.

The chief added that he made a recommendation a year ago for establishment of a post for a specially - trained lieutenant who would have been in charge of education and training of new officers and the maintenance of the department's record system.

"This officer would have been assigned to felony cases to make certain they were presented properly," he added.

Lack of funds prevented the move for creation of the specialized job, Radeschi pointed out.

A high fidelity record player was taken by a burglar who invaded the Garfield School on Pennsylvania Ave. Thursday night or early today, police reported.

auto pulled behind him and pumped a volley of shots into his rear tires. The rig limped into Lisbon with four flat tires. The tank truck is owned by the Ashland Oil Co. and is based in East Liverpool.

PENNSYLVANIA state police at Chippewa, said this morning no serious incidents have been reported in Beaver County, but officers at Carnegie said headquarters has been flooded with complaints of harassments in the Pittsburgh area.

The striking truckers have set up encampments on Route 18 near the turnpike entrance and on Route 51 in Chippewa Township. An officer said the men attempt to flag down trucks as they pass by, but if the driver does not halt, the strikers are not making any effort to stop them. No one has reported being forced to halt in the county, police said.

Beaver County District Atty. Robert J. Masters issued a warning Wednesday that his office would prosecute those who "harass, shoot at or otherwise interfere with truckers."

Carnegie officers said, "Telephones have been ringing here all morning." Trucks are being halted, and drivers threatened if they attempt to move their rigs, officers said.

Some violence was reported early this morning near New Castle in Lawrence County. A trucker told authorities four tires on his rig were shot at 1:20 a.m. today while driving along Route 422. He told police men in two cars attempted to force him off the road. When he failed to halt, the men fired guns and hit the tires, he said.

Another truck reported men in three cars attempted to force him off Route 422 Thursday night and then threw wooden blocks at his rig.

"ALL THE steel in the world isn't worth a man's life," a Lorain Teamsters Union leader said Thursday night after a member of his local had tires shot out on his tractor-trailer rig near here.

The official, James Stockard, president of Teamsters Local 571 in Lorain, urged steel haulers to stop operations as a safety measure.

Shot at was Ralph Sublett, 24, of Hinckley.

The strike started three weeks ago at trucking companies in Gary, Inc., and spread east into Pennsylvania. The strike, which is unauthorized, is blocking shipments of steel in Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Youngstown, Wheeling and Buffalo.

ON STRIKE are men who work for trucking companies, but who haul steel in their own trucks. They receive about 75 per cent of the cost of shipping a load, but an industry spokesman said they are asking for 79 per cent, plus payment of road taxes and a $15 flat rate for waiting at mills to have their trucks loaded or unloaded.

The spokesman said drivers of company - owned trucks receive about 25 per cent of the gross.

Alex Baker, 36, of Munroe Falls was shot in the arm from a passing car on U.S. 224 near Medina.

Pickets in Lorain have denied they prevented anyone from entering the U.S. Steel Co.'s plant there, but few trucks have passed through the gate there the last two days.

—:—

"THE SITUATION has now reached a very serious stage insofar as our operations are concerned," said a spokesman for U.S. Steel, the nation's largest.

He said pickets were marching at some plants, but the most serious threat was the cars full of men hanging around plant gates.

Another industry spokesman, who asked that his name not be used, said some plants might have to be shut down within a few days. "It's like this," he said, "if you can't move the steel, there's no need in making any."

Trucks

auto pulled behind him and pumped a volley of shots into his rear tires. The rig limped into Lisbon with four flat tires. The tank truck is owned by the Ashland Oil Co. and is based in East Liverpool.

Officers continue their investigations.

PENNSYLVANIA state police at Chippewa, said this morning no serious incidents have been reported in Beaver County, but officers at Carnegie said headquarters has been flooded with complaints of harassments in the Pittsburgh area.

The striking truckers have set up encampments on Route 18 near the turnpike entrance and on Route 51 in Chippewa Township. An officer said the men attempt to flag down trucks as they pass by, but if the driver does not halt, the strikers are not making any effort to stop them. No one has reported being forced to halt in the county, police said.

Beaver County District Atty. Robert J. Masters issued a warning Wednesday that his office would prosecute those who "harass, shoot at or otherwise interfere with truckers."

Carnegie officers said, "Telephones have been ringing here all morning." Trucks are being halted, and drivers threatened if they attempt to move their rigs, officers said.

Some violence was reported early this morning near New Castle in Lawrence County. A trucker told authorities four tires on his rig were shot at 1:20 a.m. today while driving along Route 422. He told police men in two cars attempted to force him off the road. When he failed to halt, the men fired guns and hit the tires, he said.

Another truck reported men in three cars attempted to force him off Route 422 Thursday night and then threw wooden blocks at his rig.

"ALL THE steel in the world isn't worth a man's life," a Lorain Teamsters Union leader said Thursday night after a member of his local had tires shot out on his tractor-trailer rig near here.

The official, James Stockard, president of Teamsters Local 571 in Lorain, urged steel haulers to stop operations as a safety measure.

Shot at was Ralph Sublett, 24, of Hinckley.

The strike started three weeks ago at trucking companies in Gary, Inc., and spread east into Pennsylvania. The strike, which is unauthorized, is blocking shipments of steel in Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Youngstown, Wheeling and Buffalo.

ON STRIKE are men who work for trucking companies, but who haul steel in their own trucks. They receive about 75 per cent of the cost of shipping a load, but an industry spokesman said they are asking for 79 per cent, plus payment of road taxes and a $15 flat rate for waiting at mills to have their trucks loaded or unloaded.

The spokesman said drivers of company - owned trucks receive about 25 per cent of the gross.

Alex Baker, 36, of Munroe Falls was shot in the arm from a passing car on U.S. 224 near Medina.

Pickets in Lorain have denied they prevented anyone from entering the U.S. Steel Co.'s plant there, but few trucks have passed through the gate there the last two days.

—:—

"THE SITUATION has now reached a very serious stage insofar as our operations are concerned," said a spokesman for U.S. Steel, the nation's largest.

He said pickets were marching at some plants, but the most serious threat was the cars full of men hanging around plant gates.

Another industry spokesman, who asked that his name not be used, said some plants might have to be shut down within a few days. "It's like this," he said, "if you can't move the steel, there's no need in making any."

They included: See yourself and recognize your traits; use your positive traits; use constructive energies; don't try to change completely; recognize why you want to change; try to retain positive traits while giving up negative traits; recognize that everyone has some flaws.

Congress Fund Action Awaited

HUD Expected To Delay Choices For Model Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development is expected to postpone announcing its long-awaited choices for the model cities program until Congress completes action on fund requests for it, sources say.

A total of 193 cities want planning grants.

The sources said HUD officials may already have decided it would be poor strategy to make the announcement just before final congressional action—expected within a few weeks.

The question is whether to risk losing support of congressmen who could be disappointed if their cities are not chosen, the sources said.

A spokesman for HUD Secretary Robert C. Weaver would say only that nothing is holding up the announcement except the selection process.

Weaver previously has said the extensive delay has not resulted from an order from the White House. He said the only cause for delay was the unexpectedly time-consuming job of processing the cities' applications.

It was learned, however, that the matter has reached Weaver's desk.

Other sources said HUD officials also may have decided they could make better decisions on which—and how many—cities are to be selected when they know how much money Congress will provide. Initial planning-grant funds already are available.

The 193 cities applying for planning grants are competing for a total of $11 million in available funds. At the start, each of the 90 or so chosen will receive a grant to prepare a program for one so-called model neighborhood in the city.

For fiscal 1968, another $12 million is being asked for second-stage planning grants.

Announcement of the selected cities originally was to have been made in June. Then it was to be mid-July. Then it was to be "when it is announced."

Franklin D. Roosevelt had three vice presidents serve under him — John Garner, Henry Wallace and Harry S. Truman.

BPW's Event Featured By Personality Study

Members of the Business and Professional Women's Club learned of ways in which they can project their personalities during their dinner meeting Wednesday at the Travelers Hotel.

Mrs. L.W. Reed, personal development chairman, offered suggestions on how members might become the women they want to be. They included: See yourself and recognize your traits; use your positive traits; use constructive energies; don't try to change completely; recognize why you want to change; try to retain positive traits while giving up negative traits; recognize that everyone has some flaws.

Mrs. Reed pointed out that "a pleasant attitude costs nothing, but it builds good will for you and your club."

MEMBERS OF the committee portrayed common personality traits in humorous pantomime. Included were generousity, selfishness, truthfulness, jealousy, dominance and ambition.

Mrs. William Conkle, Mrs. Richard Franklin, Miss Solina Liberatore, Mrs. William Quear, Mrs. Forrest Saucer, Mrs. Richard Springer and Miss Paula Stanyard closed the program with a takeoff on the world of musical combos. The group, known as the "Harmonacees," pantomimed popular music.

Congress Fund Action Awaited

HUD Expected To Delay Choices For Model Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development is expected to postpone announcing its long-awaited choices for the model cities program until Congress completes action on fund requests for it, sources say.

A total of 193 cities want planning grants.

The sources said HUD officials may already have decided it would be poor strategy to make the announcement just before final congressional action—expected within a few weeks.

The question is whether to risk losing support of congressmen who could be disappointed if their cities are not chosen, the sources said.

Weaver previously has said the extensive delay has not resulted from an order from the White House. He said the only cause for delay was the unexpectedly time-consuming job of processing the cities' applications.

It was learned, however, that the matter has reached Weaver's desk.

Other sources said HUD officials also may have decided they could make better decisions on which—and how many—cities are to be selected when they know how much money Congress will provide. Initial planning-grant funds already are available.

The 193 cities applying for planning grants are competing for a total of $11 million in available funds. At the start, each of the 90 or so chosen will receive a grant to prepare a program for one so-called model neighborhood in the city.

For fiscal 1968, another $12 million is being asked for second-stage planning grants.

Announcement of the selected cities originally was to have been made in June. Then it was to be mid-July. Then it was to be "when it is announced."

Franklin D. Roosevelt had three vice presidents serve under him — John Garner, Henry Wallace and Harry S. Truman.

Various projects have been scheduled next week by the DAR to call attention to the structure of government and rights established by the Constitution. Mrs. Frank Dales, chairman of the DAR observance, urges area residents to fly flags in tribute to the week.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

No Sweat For Ed Sullivan

It's always relaxing to sit and reminisce about TV with its patron saint, Ed Sullivan, the man who might be said to have started the whole thing nearly 20 years ago in June 1948.

Hal Humphrey

While everyone else in TV now is sniffing the air tensely for omens good and bad about the new season, Ed doesn't seem the least apprehensive, and why should he?

"I've outlived a lot of regimes at CBS. The network leaves us alone to do what we want. In the Nielsen composite rating for all of last season we ranked 12th, which is pretty good," Ed muses, a slight grin creasing what his critics used to refer to as Ol' Stoneface.

ED WILL BE 65 on Sept. 28, but he's not thinking of retiring.

"I'll keep right on. It would be an empty existence for me otherwise," he says, candidly.

In Hollywood to pre-tape a segment for his opening show of the season (Sunday) with Red Skelton, Ed recalls that Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis were on his first show in 1948. With them he had Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein, pianist Eugene Liszt and Jack Dempsey and Joe Louis.

"I think we had a line of girls — maybe only six — whom I introduced as the 'Toastettes.' The show was called 'Toast of the Town' those first seven years. We didn't have much of a budget. I'll bet we didn't pay Dean and Jerry more than a couple hundred bucks," says Ed.

HE DOESN'T AGREE with the George Burnses and Jack Bennys who say that TV's drying up of small night clubs and variety shows in theaters left new talent without a training ground. ("No place to be bad," as Burns once put it.)

"The kids have the greatest training in the world right in their living rooms — the TV screen. It's a free school, and they can study at home and learn more than they could on the road in those so-called good ol' days,' Ed emphasizes.

"Most of the people in vaudevill in those days couldn't get on TV today. They weren't that good. There's more talent to pick from today, too, which proves something," adds Ed.

IN THE EARLY DAYS of his TV show Ed says he never knew from one week to the next whom he'd have on. There wasn't that much talent around, plus the fact air travel hadn't reached the jet stage.

"I remember it was a big event for me to get an act to come in from Chicago. Lots of them didn't want to fly at all, so they'd come by train (clip me for a Pullman, then ride coach), and there was no time for rehearsal. Off the train and on to the show they'd come," he recalls.

Some performers will tell you Ed's show hasn't changed in that regard, that there still isn't time for rehearsal, no matter if they come by jet. Another complaint of the performer on the show is his never being given enough time. Ed's answer is that he and producer Bob Precht (Ed's son-in-law) are relaxing a bit on time where the performer really deserves it.

"YOU'D BE SURPRISED," says Precht, "how our editing down a lot of acts really improves them. Naturally, I wouldn't expect the performer to agree."

Ed strives for a something-for-everybody balance in the show and obviously has succeeded, with everything from the Moiseyev dancers to the Beatles.

As for Ed himself, he still mystifies all the experts who never in the first place would have let him get past his audition as a host-emcee.

If we were to look at some of Ed's old kinescoped shows, we'd be seeing the same uncomfortable - appearing character, having trouble with his syntax and with pronunciation) of the acts' names, as he has today.

Now we know that had Ed gone to diction school, or changed his manner in any way, he'd never have made it through nearly 20 years of his own TV show. Nobody, with the possible exception of Jimmy Cagney, is done more by mimics and impersonators than Sullivan. That's because his style is, shall we say, unique.

In Bid For Tax Surcharge

LBJ's Aides Preparing List Of Spending Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson Administration is reportedly preparing a list of specific spending cuts in a bid to give its proposed tax surcharge a push through a balky Congress.

The House Ways and Means Committee begins closed meetings Monday on the plan to raise individual and corporate income taxes 10 per cent.

Committee Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., has implied more and more strongly that his committee may not act on the tax surcharge proposal until Johnson recommends specific reductions in spending.

The administration promised to chop civilian spending by at least $2 billion but never said where the cuts would come.

It was learned, however, that reductions were discussed at a high-level government meeting Thursday. There has been much "pulling and hauling" over where the cuts should be made, it was said.

The Budget Bureau has been working on possible belt-tightening for several months and there has been talk among government workers of urgent appeals from the bureau to cut down on overtime pay.

Johnson asked all departments and agencies several months ago to spell out areas where cuts might be made. Replies have been screened by the Budget Bureau.

Schultze said Thursday cuts in civilian programs must come from the $20 billion in planned spending which can be controlled. Other payments, he said, involve veterans benefits, interest on the debt, commitments on contracts already awarded and spending dictated by law.

It was said the administration is finding it hard to slice beyond $2 billion and still retain what it considers vital programs.

Critics Say Tax Break Sacred Cow

Oil Depletion Allowance Battle Brews In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new battle is shaping up in Congress over the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance—a tax break described as a sacred cow by its critics and a vital part of the national interest by its supporters.

The provision intact since its adoption by Congress in 1926, permits oil and gas producers to deduct for tax purposes up to 27½ per cent of their gross income. The deduction cannot exceed half a producer's net income.

Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, senior Republican member of the Senate Finance Committee, said he plans to carry the ball again in hopes of reducing the allowance to 20 per cent over three years.

His strategy will be to attach his amendment to President Johnson's bill for a 10 per cent surcharge on corporate and individual income taxes—should the House eventually send that measure to the Senate.

Failing this, Williams said he'll try to tack it to the administration's tax revision package which President Johnson promised to send to Congress this year.

Williams said he doesn't want to eliminate the allowance but merely to reduce it and force oil and gas companies to pay what he called their fair share of the tax load.

One supporter of the 27½ per cent allowance, Rep. A. Sydney Herlong Jr., D-Fla., a member of the House Ways and Means Committee, disputed the loophole label frequently applied to the provision.

The allowance, Herlong said, enables the industry to meet the nation's steadily increasing need for oil at a reasonable price to consumers.

Supporters contend it's needed to help offset the costs of finding and developing new oil resources.

Recreational Center Plans Are Reviewed

A committee from the East Liverpool Jaycees outlined progress which has been made toward the proposed recreational center Thursday night during a meeting with the Board of Park Commissioners in the mayor's office.

Reviewed was what the Jaycees and the Community Action Committee have accomplished to date in their plans for the new center.

The Jaycee committee asked if the commissioners would prefer to supervise the center to assure local rather than federal control.

Frank Moss, Jaycee president, said the commissioners indicated they were willing to assist in any way possible to promote the center here.

The commissioners also pointed out that since a park commission is in the master plan, the city could qualify for federal funds at some date.

Both groups will continue to study the plan, with no definite decisions taken last night.

Representing the Jaycees were Moss, Charles Lang, Richard Darrah, Roger Babb and Keith Clutter. Commissioners present were Robert Owen, chairman, and Lou Yanni and Joe Walters, park director.

Treasurer's Tenure Change Set For 1970

Although a new state law became effective July 5, extending the term of city treasurers from two to four years, it will have no real effect on the tenure until Jan. 1, 1970, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown advised the County Election Board Thursday.

Brown pointed out House Bill 46 amends the Ohio Revised Code to provide for four - year terms for treasurers of municipal corporations having a population of less than 100,000. But another section of the new statute provides that the change in the length of term takes effect on Jan. 1, 1969.

This means that city treasurers will be elected for a two-year term at the Nov. 7 general election. When their terms expire in 1969 and they seek re-election, it will be for a four-year term starting Jan. 1, 1970, Brown explained.

Crash Advertising Program

Pentagon Bids For More Negroes In Guard Ranks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has ordered a crash advertising campaign, complete with rock 'n roll, radio commercials and full-color billboards, in an effort to pep up a pilot program to recruit more Negroes into the National Guard.

The 90-day advertising blitz will zero in on Negro neighborhoods in New Jersey. That state was selected as the testing ground for what may become a nationwide drive to increase Negro membership in the Guard—a move recommended recently by a presidential panel.

Fifty-one Negroes have been accepted and another 134 have applied in the month since the Pentagon slashed red tape and granted the 14,000- member New Jersey Guard 700 new slots reserved exclusively for Negroes.

A few other states also have asked for overstrength authorization so they can step up recruiting of Negroes. But the Pentagon is withholding action on these requests until the New Jersey project can be evaluated, probably in mid-December.

President Johnson's National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders, created to investigate this summer's big-city riots, reported Aug. 10 that only 1.15 per cent of the nation's 404,996 Army guardsmen are Negroes. The Air Guard figure is even lower—0.6 per cent of 77,078 men.

The New Jersey drive "is going very well in certain areas, but not very well in other areas," Maj. Gen. James F. Cantwell, head of the state's Guard, said in an interview.

Cantwell, who commanded Guard activities in the Newark riot, said he is receiving excellent cooperation from New Jersey Negro leaders, but other officers said Negro youths they have tried to recruit seem suspicious of their efforts.

"These boys always ask, 'What's the gimmick?' " one recruiter said. "They're just hanging back, waiting and watching to see what's going to happen."

Guard officers hope the advertising campaign will break down this resistance.

At the Pentagon, a National Guard Bureau spokesman confirmed that a Detroit advertising agency, Zimmer, Keller & Calvert Inc., has been instructed to map out the 90-day advertising campaign. The same agency handles the Guard's regular advertising program under an annual contract.

Maj. James Elliot, head of the Guard bureau's information office, said he had given the Detroit agency authority to start work on the campaign, although "no price has been negotiated yet."

The funds will be supplied by the bureau, and Elliot said he has set a maximum "in my own little mind" on the amount to be spent. He refused, however, to divulte it.

WASHINGTON (AP) — "We have a long way to go to balance mouths to feed with food to feed them," says William S. Gaud, head of the Agency for International Development.

Gaud made the comment in announcing that $3.8 million will be spent on programs of technical assistance in family planning to India and other developing countries. India will get $1.3 million for contraceptives.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

No Sweat For Ed Sullivan

It's always relaxing to sit and reminisce about TV with its patron saint, Ed Sullivan, the man who might be said to have started the whole thing nearly 20 years ago in June 1948.

Hal Humphrey

While everyone else in TV now is sniffing the air tensely for omens good and bad about the new season, Ed doesn't seem the least apprehensive, and why should he?

"I've outlived a lot of regimes at CBS. The network leaves us alone to do what we want. In the Nielsen composite rating for all of last season we ranked 12th, which is pretty good," Ed muses, a slight grin creasing what his critics used to refer to as Ol' Stoneface.

ED WILL BE 65 on Sept. 28, but he's not thinking of retiring.

"I'll keep right on. It would be an empty existence for me otherwise," he says, candidly.

In Hollywood to pre-tape a segment for his opening show of the season (Sunday) with Red Skelton, Ed recalls that Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis were on his first show in 1948. With them he had Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein, pianist Eugene Liszt and Jack Dempsey and Joe Louis.

"I think we had a line of girls — maybe only six — whom I introduced as the 'Toastettes.' The show was called 'Toast of the Town' those first seven years. We didn't have much of a budget. I'll bet we didn't pay Dean and Jerry more than a couple hundred bucks," says Ed.

HE DOESN'T AGREE with the George Burnses and Jack Bennys who say that TV's drying up of small night clubs and variety shows in theaters left new talent without a training ground. ("No place to be bad," as Burns once put it.)

"The kids have the greatest training in the world right in their living rooms — the TV screen. It's a free school, and they can study at home and learn more than they could on the road in those so-called good ol' days,' Ed emphasizes.

"Most of the people in vaudevill in those days couldn't get on TV today. They weren't that good. There's more talent to pick from today, too, which proves something," adds Ed.

IN THE EARLY DAYS of his TV show Ed says he never knew from one week to the next whom he'd have on. There wasn't that much talent around, plus the fact air travel hadn't reached the jet stage.

"I remember it was a big event for me to get an act to come in from Chicago. Lots of them didn't want to fly at all, so they'd come by train (clip me for a Pullman, then ride coach), and there was no time for rehearsal. Off the train and on to the show they'd come," he recalls.

Some performers will tell you Ed's show hasn't changed in that regard, that there still isn't time for rehearsal, no matter if they come by jet. Another complaint of the performer on the show is his never being given enough time. Ed's answer is that he and producer Bob Precht (Ed's son-in-law) are relaxing a bit on time where the performer really deserves it.

"YOU'D BE SURPRISED," says Precht, "how our editing down a lot of acts really improves them. Naturally, I wouldn't expect the performer to agree."

Ed strives for a something-for-everybody balance in the show and obviously has succeeded, with everything from the Moiseyev dancers to the Beatles.

As for Ed himself, he still mystifies all the experts who never in the first place would have let him get past his audition as a host-emcee.

If we were to look at some of Ed's old kinescoped shows, we'd be seeing the same uncomfortable - appearing character, having trouble with his syntax and with pronunciation) of the acts' names, as he has today.

Now we know that had Ed gone to diction school, or changed his manner in any way, he'd never have made it through nearly 20 years of his own TV show. Nobody, with the possible exception of Jimmy Cagney, is done more by mimics and impersonators than Sullivan. That's because his style is, shall we say, unique.

In Bid For Tax Surcharge

LBJ's Aides Preparing List Of Spending Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson Administration is reportedly preparing a list of specific spending cuts in a bid to give its proposed tax surcharge a push through a balky Congress.

The House Ways and Means Committee begins closed meetings Monday on the plan to raise individual and corporate income taxes 10 per cent.

Committee Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., has implied more and more strongly that his committee may not act on the tax surcharge proposal until Johnson recommends specific reductions in spending.

The administration promised to chop civilian spending by at least $2 billion but never said where the cuts would come.

It was learned, however, that reductions were discussed at a high-level government meeting Thursday. There has been much "pulling and hauling" over where the cuts should be made, it was said.

The Budget Bureau has been working on possible belt-tightening for several months and there has been talk among government workers of urgent appeals from the bureau to cut down on overtime pay.

Johnson asked all departments and agencies several months ago to spell out areas where cuts might be made. Replies have been screened by the Budget Bureau.

Schultze said Thursday cuts in civilian programs must come from the $20 billion in planned spending which can be controlled. Other payments, he said, involve veterans benefits, interest on the debt, commitments on contracts already awarded and spending dictated by law.

It was said the administration is finding it hard to slice beyond $2 billion and still retain what it considers vital programs.

Critics Say Tax Break Sacred Cow

Oil Depletion Allowance Battle Brews In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new battle is shaping up in Congress over the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance—a tax break described as a sacred cow by its critics and a vital part of the national interest by its supporters.

The provision intact since its adoption by Congress in 1926, permits oil and gas producers to deduct for tax purposes up to 27½ per cent of their gross income. The deduction cannot exceed half a producer's net income.

Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, senior Republican member of the Senate Finance Committee, said he plans to carry the ball again in hopes of reducing the allowance to 20 per cent over three years.

His strategy will be to attach his amendment to President Johnson's bill for a 10 per cent surcharge on corporate and individual income taxes—should the House eventually send that measure to the Senate.

Failing this, Williams said he'll try to tack it to the administration's tax revision package which President Johnson promised to send to Congress this year.

Williams said he doesn't want to eliminate the allowance but merely to reduce it and force oil and gas companies to pay what he called their fair share of the tax load.

One supporter of the 27½ per cent allowance, Rep. A. Sydney Herlong Jr., D-Fla., a member of the House Ways and Means Committee, disputed the loophole label frequently applied to the provision.

The allowance, Herlong said, enables the industry to meet the nation's steadily increasing need for oil at a reasonable price to consumers.

Supporters contend it's needed to help offset the costs of finding and developing new oil resources.

Treasurer's Tenure Change Set For 1970

Although a new state law became effective July 5, extending the term of city treasurers from two to four years, it will have no real effect on the tenure until Jan. 1, 1970, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown advised the County Election Board Thursday.

Brown pointed out House Bill 46 amends the Ohio Revised Code to provide for four - year terms for treasurers of municipal corporations having a population of less than 100,000. But another section of the new statute provides that the change in the length of term takes effect on Jan. 1, 1969.

This means that city treasurers will be elected for a two-year term at the Nov. 7 general election. When their terms expire in 1969 and they seek re-election, it will be for a four-year term starting Jan. 1, 1970, Brown explained.

Pentagon Bids For More Negroes In Guard Ranks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has ordered a crash advertising campaign, complete with rock 'n roll, radio commercials and full-color billboards, in an effort to pep up a pilot program to recruit more Negroes into the National Guard.

The 90-day advertising blitz will zero in on Negro neighborhoods in New Jersey. That state was selected as the testing ground for what may become a nationwide drive to increase Negro membership in the Guard—a move recommended recently by a presidential panel.

Fifty-one Negroes have been accepted and another 134 have applied in the month since the Pentagon slashed red tape and granted the 14,000- member New Jersey Guard 700 new slots reserved exclusively for Negroes.

A few other states also have asked for overstrength authorization so they can step up recruiting of Negroes. But the Pentagon is withholding action on these requests until the New Jersey project can be evaluated, probably in mid-December.

President Johnson's National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders, created to investigate this summer's big-city riots, reported Aug. 10 that only 1.15 per cent of the nation's 404,996 Army guardsmen are Negroes. The Air Guard figure is even lower—0.6 per cent of 77,078 men.

The New Jersey drive "is going very well in certain areas, but not very well in other areas," Maj. Gen. James F. Cantwell, head of the state's Guard, said in an interview.

Cantwell, who commanded Guard activities in the Newark riot, said he is receiving excellent cooperation from New Jersey Negro leaders, but other officers said Negro youths they have tried to recruit seem suspicious of their efforts.

"These boys always ask, 'What's the gimmick?'" one recruiter said. "They're just hanging back, waiting and watching to see what's going to happen."

Guard officers hope the advertising campaign will break down this resistance.

At the Pentagon, a National Guard Bureau spokesman confirmed that a Detroit advertising agency, Zimmer, Keller & Calvert Inc., has been instructed to map out the 90-day advertising campaign. The same agency handles the Guard's regular advertising program under an annual contract.

Maj. James Elliot, head of the Guard bureau's information office, said he had given the Detroit agency authority to start work on the campaign, although "no price has been negotiated yet."

The funds will be supplied by the bureau, and Elliot said he has set a maximum "in my own little mind" on the amount to be spent. He refused, however, to divulte it.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Health, Education and Welfare Department will conduct surveys this fall to determine the racial makeup of schools throughout the country.

This will be the first time Northern schools have been surveyed, in line with a congressional demand that the nondiscrimination guidelines be applied everywhere, not just the South.

WASHINGTON (AP) — "We have a long way to go to balance mouths to feed with food to feed them," says William S. Gaud, head of the Agency for International Development.

Gaud made the comment in announcing that $3.8 million will be spent on programs of technical assistance in family planning to India and other developing countries. India will get $1.3 million for contraceptives.

Capital Footnotes

William C. Foster, chief U.S. disarmament negotiator, returns to Washington today from the Geneva disarmament conference for consultation and a brief vacation.

Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, proposes congressmen be allowed larger deductions for expenses and tighter restrictions on outside business affiliations, including a ban on travel paid for by private firms or foreign countries. He says that as things stand now, unreimbursed expenses reduce a congressman's true salary from $30,000 annually to $18,000 or $20,000.

5,000 Due To Attend Steam Engine Event

Steam engine buffs from the tri-state district will gather today and Saturday at the Dean Fullerton farm on Pennsylvania Route 18 between Hickory and Burgettstown.

The Tri-State Historical Steam Engine Association's 11th annual reunion is expected to attract 5,000 spectators, according to Earl Hamilton of the West Point - Gavers Rd., a director.

He said many types of traction and portable engines will be on display in addition to demonstrations of threshing, baling, hulling clover, sawing, cutting shingles, grinding feed, drilling wells and filling silos.

Lubricated steam will be available for hobbyists who wish to operate their models.

PTA Will Meet

HAMMONDSVILLE — The first meeting of the term will be held by the Hammondsville Elementary School PTA Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the school. Mrs. Ruth Crowe is president.

Corn ranks as the No. 1 crop in the United States, with a record 4.2 billion bushels having been harvested in 1965.

16 Hurt As Woman Motorist Is Unable To Stop Her Car

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A woman motorist, unable to stop her speeding car because of apparent brake failure, drove out of control for four blocks Thursday before ramming another car, sending both vehicles crashing into a crowd of pedestrians.

Sixteen persons were injured —11 of them pedestrians—in the noontime accident at Gay and High streets, one of Columbus' busiest downtown intersections.

The sidewalks were filled with shoppers and employes on lunch.

A policeman said it was the "worst downtown traffic accident I've ever seen.

Clifton L. Bishop, 74, one of the drivers and former mayor of St. Louisville, Ohio, was the most seriously injured. He was in critical condition in Mount Carmel Hospital.

The other driver, Mrs. Rozalia M. Bridges, 42, Columbus, who operates a florist shop, was treated at University Hospital.

Mrs. Bridges told police the engine speeded up and she could not stop the car with the foot or emergency brake. Officers said she did not turn off the ignition.

Officers said Mrs. Bridges went four blocks yelling out the window and blowing the horn to warn other motorists. She struck another car and one time went left of center to avoid hitting a line of traffic.

A policeman directing traffic said he narrowly missed getting hit, and estimated Mrs. Bridges' speed ah 40-50 miles an hour. No charges were filed.

Others injured were Bishop's wife, Mable, 72; and two passengers in Mrs. Bridges' car: her mother, Mrs. Carrie Booker, 60, Columbus, and Mrs. Bridges' aunt, Mrs. Claudia Kelley, 55, Bluefield, Va.

Only Bishop, Mrs. Ginsburg and the Isaacs boy were admitted to hospitals.

Australia was the last of the inhabited continents to be discovered.

Walter Williams was the last veteran of the Civil War. A Confederate, he died at the age of 117.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: We can always need brush holders, but the "plumber's friend" (which I also like to keep in my bath room) has no place to hide.

I finally decided to do something about it. So I painted the handle white, cut off the top of a gallon bleach jug and the plumber's friend fitted right in.

Then I cut a giant-size jug off halfway and made an inch hole in the bottom. But putting this upside down over the handle, the plumber's friend had a cover.

Now, Bernice, aren't you a tricky one? I bow to you on both knees.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: Did you know that brushing the bottom crust of a pie with a slightly beaten egg white will prevent juice from soaking into it?

The crust will be nice and crisp, not soggy.

BLONDIE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: Washing a "skunked" dog with tomato juice to remove skunk odor works!

But have you ever tried to wash the tomato juice off the dog?

Everytime he shakes his coat to get the wet off, the walls, the room and you are very nicely tomatoes, too.

This is the voice of experience speaking. Wow! What a mess.

DOLLY.

DEAR HELOISE: I moved recently and my bedroom drapes were a little too narrow for the windows.

I removed the stitching from the pleats and instead of three folds in each pleat, I made too small ones.

This widened them just enough to cover the window, and no one noticed the difference.

I was so pleased with the results, but best of all, it saved me the expense of having to buy new drapes.

RUTH ROBERTS.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I just can't bear to throw away those nice plastic - coated trays meat is packaged in at the meat market.

ELEANOR MICHAELIS.

Come on, gals, I'll bet you have some suggestions. Write to us in care of this paper and let's help our friend, Eleanor.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: We put our small barbecue grill in our fireplace. Now we have wonderful charcoaled meals the year around without insects and the threat of rain.

We keep the damper in the fireplace open so there is no worry of dangerous fumes.

CHARLOTTE GAREY.

DEAR HELOISE: Here are two uses I have for clear nail polish other than its regular use:

I paint metal buttons with it for a long-lasting shine. Also coat the middle of the button with it, too, and it will cement the thread and keep those buttons on longer.

"THE THREE MUSKETEERS"

DEAR HELOISE: Being an indulgent grandmother, I let my granddaughters use my hand lotion each time they wash their hands.

I've had to be ingenious to keep ahead of them, so I put hand lotion in empty roll-on deodorant bottles.

Tribute Paid Lafferty By Members Of Bar

LISBON — Members of the Columbiana County Bar Association attended funeral services here Thursday for George L. Lafferty, 68, a past president, former prosecuting attorney and a Lisbon lawyer for 42 years. He died Tuesday of a heart attack.

The association held a memorial meeting at the Courthouse before the service. The tribute was written by a committee of Common Pleas Court Judge Joel H. Sharp, John E. Baucknecht and W. B. Moore Jr. It will be recorded in the court journal and a copy will be forwarded to the Lafferty family.

Among 38 Measures Approved

Rhodes Signs Bill Hiking Jobless Benefits By 14%

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 14-per cent increase in unemployment claims and a "clean water" program were among 38 bills signed into law by Gov. James A. Rhodes Thursday.

Rhodes said the unemployment compensation increases equal the cost of living rise since benefits were last boosted in 1959. The new law takes effect Dec. 31.

The new benefits will range from a top of $47 a week for a claimant without dependents who average $92 a week, to $66 a week for a worker with four dependents who earns more than $120 weekly.

The new law also provides a new rate schedule for employer contributions into the fund from which benefits are paid and changes the name of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation to the Bureau of Employment Services.

The "clean water" bill is a companion measure to the recently enacted air pollution control law and authorizes the Water Pollution Control Board to adopt water quality standards and broadens the board's enforcement powers against persons who pollute streams.

Another new law postpones until 1969 the start of payments by municipalities on accured fire and police pension liabilities of $420 million. The pension funds were recently incorporated into one state system, instead of being operated by each municipality.

The new law advances from next year until Jan. 1, 1969, the payment due date so that cities will have more time to arrange for meeting a schedule designed to put the entire system on a sound financial basis.

In addition to the "clean water" law, two more new laws provide for state regulation of solid waste disposal and broaden the powers of watershed districts to control floods.

In an effort to curb mounting multimillion dollar crop damage yearly, the state agriculture director was authorized to develop a program for control of redwing blackbirds and others ravaging farms.

Other new laws ban sale of possession of master car keys, increase debtor exemption in garnishment proceedings, limit use of flasher lights to public safety vehicles and require courts to impound license plates of motorists convicted of drunk driving while their operating licenses are under suspension or revocation.

Other new laws will:

Allow university branches to invest in federal bonds.

Provide medicare for three public retirement system members.

Require aduiting of all public offices and governmental agencies every two years.

Increase monetary jurisdiction of municipal courts from $3,000 to $5,000.

Require school district superintendent approval, in addition to state school board to submit bond issues to voters which would push new indebtedness of a district past 6 per cent of property value.

Create an antitrust division and authorize the attorney general to represent political subdivisions and agencies in antitrust actions.

Increase the fee for common pleas court issuance of memorandum certificates for boats and motor vehicles from 50 cents to $1.

Increase registration and renewal fees for professional engineers and surveyors.

Change chicopody reference in Ohio statutes to podiatry.

Allow county commissioners to contribue to educational TV stations.

Permit conservancy districts to issue anticipatory notes.

Provide for appointment of technical institute district treasurers.

Give immunity to doctors furnishing information to hospital and medical society committees.

Set limits for reimbursement of school transportation costs.

Authorize state agencies to enter into lease-purchase contracts with lowest bidder for land and buildings.

Set tests and controls for animal diseases.

Require annual license for commercial swine and poultry feeding.

Require county engineers to review plans for constructing culvert under state highways.

Update loan eligibility under servicemen's readjustment act.

Allow municipalities to transfer surplus sewer monies to other funds.

Require mussel fishing permits.

Remove school employes retirement system age qualification for widow or widower judged mentally or physically incompetent.

Provide for an estate tax in lieu of an inheritance tax.

Historical Association Spurs County Park Bid

LISBON — The Columbiana County Historical Association will ask townships and municipalities to endorse its resolution that county commissioners create a county park at the McKinley Scout Reservation northwest of Lisbon.

Members adopted the resolution Wednesday night at Village hall after hearing Robert Kelm of Lisbon report on a committee's visit to the commissioners.

Kelm said Columbiana Council, Boy Scouts of America, which owns the 120 acres along middle Beaver Creek, and the county - commissioners are in favor of the county park plan.

The Boy Scouts would continue to use their camp sties at McKinley for winter and weekend camping although the major summer camping program is carried on at the council's Camp Twin Spruce on Leesville Lake.

Kelm said the association has plans to restore the Rebecca iron furnace, where President William McKinley's father worked as a youth, and use the McKinley homestead as a meeting place and museum. The furnace and old stone house are at the junction of Logtown and Furnace Rds. along the creek.

Kelm said the requests of all townships and incorporated communities are necessary for the county commissioners to establish a park commission.

R. Max Gard of Lisbon, a member of the association, discussed stamps. John Simonds of Leetonia, president, conducted business. He said the group is planning another tour this fall along the trail Col. Henry Bouquet followed through this area in 1764 on his expedition from Fort Duquesne to Coshocton.

Davis said he is "disappointed that nothing concrete has been done" by the General Assembly to improve the situation.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: We can always need brush holders, but the "plumber's friend" (which I also like to keep in my bath room) has no place to hide.

I finally decided to do something about it. So I painted the handle white, cut off the top of a gallon bleach jug and the plumber's friend fitted right in.

Then I cut a giant-size jug off halfway and made an inch hole in the bottom. But putting this upside down over the handle, the plumber's friend had a cover.

Now, Bernice, aren't you a tricky one? I bow to you on both knees.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: Did you know that brushing the bottom crust of a pie with a slightly beaten egg white will prevent juice from soaking into it?

The crust will be nice and crisp, not soggy.

BLONDIE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: Washing a "skunked" dog with tomato juice to remove skunk odor works!

But have you ever tried to wash the tomato juice off the dog?

Everytime he shakes his coat to get the wet off, the walls, the room and you are very nicely tomatoes, too.

This is the voice of experience speaking. Wow! What a mess.

DOLLY.

DEAR HELOISE: I moved recently and my bedroom drapes were a little too narrow for the windows.

I removed the stitching from the pleats and instead of three folds in each pleat, I made too small ones.

This widened them just enough to cover the window, and no one noticed the difference.

I was so pleased with the results, but best of all, it saved me the expense of having to buy new drapes.

RUTH ROBERTS.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I just can't bear to throw away those nice plastic - coated trays meat is packaged in at the meat market.

ELEANOR MICHAELIS.

Come on, gals, I'll bet you have some suggestions. Write to us in care of this paper and let's help our friend, Eleanor.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: We put our small barbecue grill in our fireplace. Now we have wonderful charcoaled meals the year around without insects and the threat of rain.

We keep the damper in the fireplace open so there is no worry of dangerous fumes.

CHARLOTTE GAREY.

DEAR HELOISE: Here are two uses I have for clear nail polish other than its regular use:

I paint metal buttons with it for a long-lasting shine. Also coat the middle of the button with it, too, and it will cement the thread and keep those buttons on longer.

"THE THREE MUSKETEERS"

DEAR HELOISE: Being an indulgent grandmother, I let my granddaughters use my hand lotion each time they wash their hands.

I've had to be ingenious to keep ahead of them, so I put hand lotion in empty roll-on deodorant bottles.

Among 38 Measures Approved

Rhodes Signs Bill Hiking Jobless Benefits By 14%

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 14-per cent increase in unemployment claims and a "clean water" program were among 38 bills signed into law by Gov. James A. Rhodes Thursday.

Rhodes said the unemployment compensation increases equal the cost of living rise since benefits were last boosted in 1959. The new law takes effect Dec. 31.

The new benefits will range from a top of $47 a week for a claimant without dependents who average $92 a week, to $66 a week for a worker with four dependents who earns more than $120 weekly.

The new law also provides a new rate schedule for employer contributions into the fund from which benefits are paid and changes the name of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation to the Bureau of Employment Services.

The "clean water" bill is a companion measure to the recently enacted air pollution control law and authorizes the Water Pollution Control Board to adopt water quality standards and broadens the board's enforcement powers against persons who pollute streams.

Another new law postpones until 1969 the start of payments by municipalities on accured fire and police pension liabilities of $420 million. The pension funds were recently incorporated into one state system, instead of being operated by each municipality.

The new law advances from next year until Jan. 1, 1969, the payment due date so that cities will have more time to arrange for meeting a schedule designed to put the entire system on a sound financial basis.

In addition to the "clean water" law, two more new laws provide for state regulation of solid waste disposal and broaden the powers of watershed districts to control floods.

In an effort to curb mounting multimillion dollar crop damage yearly, the state agriculture director was authorized to develop a program for control of redwing blackbirds and others ravaging farms.

Other new laws ban sale of possession of master car keys, increase debtor exemption in garnishment proceedings, limit use of flasher lights to public safety vehicles and require courts to impound license plates of motorists convicted of drunk driving while their operating licenses are under suspension or revocation.

Other new laws will:

Allow university branches to invest in federal bonds.

Provide medicare for three public retirement system members.

Require aduiting of all public offices and governmental agencies every two years.

Increase monetary jurisdiction of municipal courts from $3,000 to $5,000.

Require school district superintendent approval, in addition to state school board to submit bond issues to voters which would push new indebtedness of a district past 6 per cent of property value.

Create an antitrust division and authorize the attorney general to represent political subdivisions and agencies in antitrust actions.

Increase the fee for common pleas court issuance of memorandum certificates for boats and motor vehicles from 50 cents to $1.

Increase registration and renewal fees for professional engineers and surveyors.

Change chicopody reference in Ohio statutes to podiatry.

Allow county commissioners to contribue to educational TV stations.

Permit conservancy districts to issue anticipatory notes.

Provide for appointment of technical institute district treasurers.

Give immunity to doctors furnishing information to hospital and medical society committees.

Set limits for reimbursement of school transportation costs.

Authorize state agencies to enter into lease-purchase contracts with lowest bidder for land and buildings.

Set tests and controls for animal diseases.

Require annual license for commercial swine and poultry feeding.

Require county engineers to review plans for constructing culvert under state highways.

Update loan eligibility under servicemen's readjustment act.

Require mussel fishing permits.

Historical Association Spurs County Park Bid

LISBON — The Columbiana County Historical Association will ask townships and municipalities to endorse its resolution that county commissioners create a county park at the McKinley Scout Reservation northwest of Lisbon.

Members adopted the resolution Wednesday night at Village hall after hearing Robert Kelm of Lisbon report on a committee's visit to the commissioners.

Kelm said Columbiana Council, Boy Scouts of America, which owns the 120 acres along middle Beaver Creek, and the county - commissioners are in favor of the county park plan.

The Boy Scouts would continue to use their camp sties at McKinley for winter and weekend camping although the major summer camping program is carried on at the council's Camp Twin Spruce on Leesville Lake.

Kelm said the association has plans to restore the Rebecca iron furnace, where President William McKinley's father worked as a youth, and use the McKinley homestead as a meeting place and museum. The furnace and old stone house are at the junction of Logtown and Furnace Rds. along the creek.

Kelm said the requests of all townships and incorporated communities are necessary for the county commissioners to establish a park commission.

R. Max Gard of Lisbon, a member of the association, discussed stamps. John Simonds of Leetonia, president, conducted business. He said the group is planning another tour this fall along the trail Col. Henry Bouquet followed through this area in 1764 on his expedition from Fort Duquesne to Coshocton.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I need some advice and fast.

A woman I work with telephoned me at the office this morning and said she would not be in because she was "seriously hurt." She replied, "I'm not REALLY hurt, Dummy. A taxi brushed my leg so I laid down in the street and said my back was killing me. I'm going to collect enough insurance to go to Europe for two months."

When I asked how she planned to get away with such a phony stunt she replied, "It's easy. Back injuries are hard to prove or disprove. The insurance companies would rather pay off than go through a jury trial. Public sentiment is with the little guy, you know."

Then she said, "I have to hang up now and start moaning. The nurses will be in any minute to take me for X-rays."

I'm thoroughly disgusted with this crook and have a strong inclination to tip off the cab company or the insurance company. My husband says, "Stay out of it." I told him I was going to write to you and take your advice. What is it?—HATE CHISELERS.

Dear H. C.: Stay out of it. But don't think for a minute your friend is going to get away with anything. The insurance companies see these crooks every day. They know all the tricks. Eventually they'll catch up with her and when they do she'll be a plenty sad apple.

Important Info

Dear Ann: Please print my letter for the benefit of the mother who has the diabetic child and is determined to keep his illness a secret because she wants him to feel "normal."

The child IS normal. She's the one who is off the beam. As a mother of a 9 year old boy who has had diabetes since he was 4, I can tell that mother if she doesn't inform that boy of the truth soon, she may regret it. I'm surprised the boy's physician didn't insist on it.

If the boy goes into insulin shock and no one knows what's wrong with him, the mother will wish everyone in the world knew about his illness so someone could help him.

Please print my letter, Ann. I'd hate to think that a little boy might die because of his mother's ignorance. — HILLSBORO.

Dear H.: I didn't realize how common diabetes was among youngsters until that letter appeared. Hundreds of mothers of diabetic children have written as you did. My thanks to you all.

Pay The Piper

Dear Ann: I'm a divorced woman who works to support herself and her child. A very fine gentleman has asked me out several times these past few months and I've had to engage a sitter to stay with my little girl.

Last week the gentleman offered to pay the sitter but I refused. Some friends with whom I've discussed this problem (it IS a problem because I'm on a tight budget) say I should not be bashful about accepting the gentleman's offer.

He's not wealthy but money is not the problem with him that it is with me. What's your advice? — FLAT PURSE.

Dear Flat: A lady pays her sitter, even though the gentleman offers, and is loaded. If the lady should become engaged to the gentleman, the situation changes, and so does the advice.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

No. 2 Man In Viet Election Race Convicted On 2 Counts

SAIGON (AP)—The No. 2 man in South Vietnan's presidential race, Truong Dinh Dzu, was convicted today of writing a bad check and transferring money abroad illegally more than three years ago.

The Saigon criminal court sentenced him to three months in prison on the check charge and six months on the other but did not make clear whether the two terms were to be served consecutively or concurrently.

Dzu, who was not in court for the trial, said the charges were false and he would appeal the conviction. He charged the military government was trying to get him because of his political opposition to it.

Dzu, a lawyer, was acquitted on a third charge that he collected a fee of 150,000 piasters—$1,270—from a Vietnamese client he had not defended.

Early this year he was the attorney for several Americans imprisoned on currency charges who accused him of trying to extort money from them, but no formal charges have been filed against him in that case.

Dzu ran second in the election to the military ticket made up of Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky. He campaigned on charges against the government and a promise to seek peace.

Since the election he has charged the Thieu-Ky military government with stealing the election.

Dzu and five other defeated presidential candidates on Thursday announced the formation of a "militant democratic opposition front" to oppose the new government of President-elect Thieu and Vice president-elect Ky.

Dzu was charged with illegally transferring $11,500 to an account in the Bank of America in San Francisco.

Dzu said the money was not transferred out of Vietnam but was put in the San Francisco bank by American friends to pay for the education of two of his children. One is studying at the University of California at Los Angeles and the other at Stanford University.

He said most of the money was from friends in Rotary International, of which Dzu is a member.

Varied Cases Bring Fines

EAST PALESTINE — A total of $290 in fines was ordered Thursday in Eastern County Court by Judge D. Barry Dickson.

In addition, two were jailed, three license permits were suspended and two drivers were instructed to attend the county's Driver Improvement Program.

Trials were postponed until Oct. 5 for Delores May Biscella of New Waterford and Gerald C. Fogel of East Palestine, both charged with reckless operation, to permit them to attend driver improvement classes.

Paul Richard Brittain of East Palestine was fined $25 and costs and given a 90-day license suspension for operating a vehicle too fast for conditions. Harvey Thomas Richards of Elkton lost his permit for four days and was fined $25 and costs on a similar charge as was Russell W. Ridgeley of Lisbon RD 2.

Others fined were William C. Haines, East Palestine RD 1, $20 and costs for failure to yield the right-of-way; Frank D. Stealey, Lisbon RD 5, $15 and costs for a stop sign violation; Harold Gene Putt, 915 Armstrong Lane, East Liverpool, $20 and costs for speeding; James William Garey, Dome St., East Liverpool, $20 and costs for failure to yield the right-of-way, and Raymond W. Rambo, Calcutta RD 3, $30 and costs for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Hays Will Invite Romney To Tell Of Brainwashing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, a well-known needler of the Republicans, said Thursday he wants to get to the bottom of who "brainwashed" Michigan Gov. George Romney, a Republican.

Hays, chairman of a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee, said he will invite Romney to appear before the committee and tell who brainwashed him.

Hays' proposal was greeted by laughter by other House members, but he quickly quieted it.

"I'm dead serious," he said. "I want to get to the bottom of this. I want to know which members of the State Department are brainwashing people who visit Vietnam. It's reprehensible if it's going on."

Romney said he was "brainwashed" on a recent tour of Vietnam conducted by U.S. military and diplomatic officials. He formerly had supported President Johnson's policies in the war-torn country.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I need some advice and fast.

A woman I work with telephoned me at the office this morning and said she would not be in because she was "seriously hurt." She replied, "I'm not REALLY hurt, Dummy. A taxi brushed my leg so I laid down in the street and said my back was killing me. I'm going to collect enough insurance to go to Europe for two months."

When I asked how she planned to get away with such a phony stunt she replied, "It's easy. Back injuries are hard to prove or disprove. The insurance companies would rather pay off than go through a jury trial. Public sentiment is with the little guy, you know."

Then she said, "I have to hang up now and start moaning. The nurses will be in any minute to take me for X-rays."

I'm thoroughly disgusted with this crook and have a strong inclination to tip off the cab company or the insurance company. My husband says, "Stay out of it." I told him I was going to write to you and take your advice. What is it?—HATE CHISELERS.

Dear H. C.: Stay out of it. But don't think for a minute your friend is going to get away with anything. The insurance companies see these crooks every day. They know all the tricks. Eventually they'll catch up with her and when they do she'll be a plenty sad apple.

Important Info

Dear Ann: Please print my letter for the benefit of the mother who has the diabetic child and is determined to keep his illness a secret because she wants him to feel "normal."

The child IS normal. She's the one who is off the beam. As a mother of a 9 year old boy who has had diabetes since he was 4, I can tell that mother if she doesn't inform that boy of the truth soon, she may regret it. I'm surprised the boy's physician didn't insist on it.

If the boy goes into insulin shock and no one knows what's wrong with him, the mother will wish everyone in the world knew about his illness so someone could help him.

Please print my letter, Ann. I'd hate to think that a little boy might die because of his mother's ignorance. — HILLSBORO.

Dear H.: I didn't realize how common diabetes was among youngsters until that letter appeared. Hundreds of mothers of diabetic children have written as you did. My thanks to you all.

Pay The Piper

Dear Ann: I'm a divorced woman who works to support herself and her child. A very fine gentleman has asked me out several times these past few months and I've had to engage a sitter to stay with my little girl.

Last week the gentleman offered to pay the sitter but I refused. Some friends with whom I've discussed this problem (it IS a problem because I'm on a tight budget) say I should not be bashful about accepting the gentleman's offer.

He's not wealthy but money is not the problem with him that it is with me. What's your advice? — FLAT PURSE.

Dear Flat: A lady pays her sitter, even though the gentleman offers, and is loaded. If the lady should become engaged to the gentleman, the situation changes, and so does the advice.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

No. 2 Man In Viet Election Race Convicted On 2 Counts

SAIGON (AP)—The No. 2 man in South Vietnan's presidential race, Truong Dinh Dzu, was convicted today of writing a bad check and transferring money abroad illegally more than three years ago.

The Saigon criminal court sentenced him to three months in prison on the check charge and six months on the other but did not make clear whether the two terms were to be served consecutively or concurrently.

Dzu, who was not in court for the trial, said the charges were false and he would appeal the conviction. He charged the military government was trying to get him because of his political opposition to it.

Dzu, a lawyer, was acquitted on a third charge that he collected a fee of 150,000 piasters—$1,270—from a Vietnamese client he had not defended.

Early this year he was the attorney for several Americans imprisoned on currency charges who accused him of trying to extort money from them, but no formal charges have been filed against him in that case.

Dzu ran second in the election to the military ticket made up of Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky. He campaigned on charges against the government and a promise to seek peace.

Since the election he has charged the Thieu-Ky military government with stealing the election.

Dzu and five other defeated presidential candidates on Thursday announced the formation of a "militant democratic opposition front" to oppose the new government of President-elect Thieu and Vice president-elect Ky.

Dzu was charged with illegally transferring $11,500 to an account in the Bank of America in San Francisco.

Dzu said the money was not transferred out of Vietnam but was put in the San Francisco bank by American friends to pay for the education of two of his children. One is studying at the University of California at Los Angeles and the other at Stanford University.

He said most of the money was from friends in Rotary International, of which Dzu is a member.

Trials were postponed until Oct. 5 for Delores May Biscella of New Waterford and Gerald C. Fogel of East Palestine, both charged with reckless operation, to permit them to attend driver improvement classes.

Hays Will Invite Romney To Tell Of Brainwashing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, a well-known needler of the Republicans, said Thursday he wants to get to the bottom of who "brainwashed" Michigan Gov. George Romney, a Republican.

Hays, chairman of a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee, said he will invite Romney to appear before the committee and tell who brainwashed him.

Hays' proposal was greeted by laughter by other House members, but he quickly quieted it.

"I'm dead serious," he said. "I want to get to the bottom of this. I want to know which members of the State Department are brainwashing people who visit Vietnam. It's reprehensible if it's going on."

Romney said he was "brainwashed" on a recent tour of Vietnam conducted by U.S. military and diplomatic officials. He formerly had supported President Johnson's policies in the war-torn country.

White Sox Win On Buford's Slam In 10th, 2½ Back

Twins, Chicago Clash In Series

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox, whose ability to win with a minimum of runs is beginning to reach ridiculous proportions, have picked up a new and unexpected rooter.

For the second time in as many days, the White Sox, in fourth place in the tight American League pennant scramble, went into extra innings in a scoreless tie with Cleveland Thursday, and for the second time, they came out winners. The score was 4-0.

Today, the Sox open a three-game series with Minnesota, tied with Boston for the league lead, and the heavy-hitting Twins aren't likely to give Chicago all those extra innings to get some runs.

Somebody who hopes the Sox score early and often is Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers, who are in third place, a game behind Boston and Minnesota.

"This is the first time all year I'll be rooting for Stanky," said Kaline of Chicago Manager Eddie Stanky. The Tigers have no more games left with the Twins and must depend on the other clubs to help out by beating the front-runners.

In the only other major league game scheduled Thursday, Atlanta beat the New York Mets 5-4 in the National League.

Chicago and Cleveland, who went 17 innings Wednesday before the White Sox won 1-0, seemed ready to do it again Thursday.

Cisco Carlos, a rookie pitcher just up from Indianapolis, was performing brilliantly on the mound, but the Chicago bats were silent, as is often the case.

Carlos didn't allow a single man past second base for the Indians and surrendered only five hits. Meanwhile, three Cleveland hurlers—Steve Hargan, Stan Williams and Orlando Pena—stopped the Sox until the fateful 10th.

Singles by Ron Hansen and Duane Josephson and an intentional pass to Smoky Burgess loaded the bases with one out. Ken Boyer struck out, but then Pena delivered a grand slam home run ball to Don Buford and that ended it.

The Braves beat the Mets on Mike de la Hoz' two-run single in the ninth. Hank Aaron and Mack Jones homered for the Braves and Ed Kranepool hit a three-run shot for the Mets.

THREE DOWN, ONE TO GO. The Intrepid, U.S. defender of the America's Cup, crosses the finish line to record her third straight win over the Australian Challenger Dame Pattie. (UPI Telephoto)

Intrepid Wins Again, Leads Dame Pattie 3-0

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—The skipper of the Australian challenger Dame Pattie thinks he knows the reason why his craft is trailing American defender Intrepid 0-3 in the best-of-7 series between the 12-meter yachts for the America's Cup.

"Hull design may be the big factor," Jock Sturrock, Dame Pattie's skipper, said today while pondering what else to do about trying to catch Intrepid.

Intrepid's time margin of victory was 4 minutes, 41 seconds. She won the first race by 5:58 and the second by 3:36.

Not even a detour towards a capsized boat that cost her about 20 seconds could prevent Intrepid from streaking away from the blue-hulled, 65-foot challenger. She won by more than one-half mile.

No boat ever has been able to make up an 0-3 deficit in this storied competition for the old mug, held by the United States for 116 years.

Toledo Hens Leading Jets 3 Games To 1

Dave Campbell slugged a tie-breaking, three-run homer in the ninth inning Thursday night to give the Mud Hens a 7-4 victory over Columbus and a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven Governor's Cup series.

The Hens could win their first playoff title ever as they host the Jets in the fifth game tonight. The sixth and seventh games, if necessary, will be played in Columbus.

Reliever Jack DiLauro, the their Toledo pitcher, was credited with Thursday's victory. He came on in the ninth.

Dilauro also was used in relief Wednesday night, retiring the last six Jets to preserve a victory.

Dies Of Leukemia

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Walter Bond, 29, former first baseman-outfielder for the Houston Astros baseball team, died of leukemia Thursday. Bond was traded to the Minnesota Twins in the spring of 1966. But his best year in the major leagues was with Houston in 1964 when he drove in 85 runs, a club record which stood for three years.

Bruce Devlin Fires 65, Leads Whitemarsh Golf

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bruce Devlin said he has to do it again to believe it.

The 29-year-old Australian shot a seven-under-par 35-30—65 Thursday to take a two-stroke lead into today's second round of the $110,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic.

"I've been playing so bad I couldn't even beat my grandmother," said the blond Aussie after posting a two-stroke edge over Lou Graham and Bill Collins in the 72-hole test for the $22,000 first prize money.

Devlin toyed with the 6,708-yard, par-72 Whitemarsh Valley Country Club course.

Dropping his hands slightly on the putter in an effort to overcome his "terrible slump," he rolled in several long putts including a 35-footer on the 18th green.

"Let's wait and see if I can do it again before we get excited," said the cautious Devlin.

Collins, a 39-year-old club pro from Brae Burn, N.Y., who plays in about seven or eight tournaments a year, tied a 1967 PGA record when he ran off six straight birdies in his round of 35-32—67.

Another stroke back at 68 are Gay Brewer, Miller Barber, Terry Dill, George Archer, Rocky Thompson, Bob Charles and Mason Rudolph, who had a 72-foot eagle putt. Wes Ellis Jr., Billy Maxwell, Lee Trevino, Billy Casper, Bob Verwey and Joel Goldstrand are at 69.

Arnold Palmer is in a group at 70 while Gary Player, who had a triple-bogey on the par-3 fourth hole, shot an opening 73. Defending champion Don January, the 1967 PGA king, withdrew becuse of "complete fatigue" after shooting a 77.

Turbine Car To Be Banned At 500 Race

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The U.S. Auto Club has indirectly banned the controversial turbine car in next year's Indianapolis 500-mile race, but the car's owner and builder says it will be entered anyway.

Anthony Granatelli told the Los Angeles Times: "I have no intention of running any other car. I will be there with the same car . . . the same engine and the same chassis."

In the 1967 race the Granatelli jet car piloted by Parnelli Jones had bearing trouble and was forced out. But the USAC later ruled the car ineligible by placing limitations on the turbine engine.

UCLA, Texas A&M Picks

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

UCLA and its celebrated quarterback, Gary Beban, rule an uneasy four-point favorite over rebounding Tennessee Saturday in the Los Angeles game that highlights college football's first busy weekend.

Texas A&M is a 10-point choice over Southern Methodist in the nationally televised feakture at College Station, Tex., and both Southern California and Colorado are favored in contests involving teams expected to finish among the Top Ten in the country.

Southern Cal, seventh in the preseason poll of The Associated Press, is a six-point choice over Washington State in a Friday night game in Los Angeles, and Colorado, rated 10th, is rated nine points over Baylor at Boulder, Colo.

UCLA, with a 9-1 record last year, and Tennessee, 7-3 and winner over Syracuse in the Gator Bowl, are also rated among the year's best—UCLA picked eighth by a panel of experts and the Volunteers ninth.

Beban, a scrambling signal-caller who runs as well as he passes and who is advance favorite for Heisman Trophy honors, completed 156 of 309 passes during his first two seasons for 2,728 yards and ran for an additional 1,042 yards. He has scored 148 points.

Tennessee's antidote to Beban is a sharpshooting passer named Dewey Warren, who specialized in the bomb. On a team that has traditionally stayed on the ground, Warren completed 136 of 229 passes last season for 1,716 yards. His main target was a sure-fingered speedster named Richmond Flowers, who is back.

Southern California has come up again with a powerhouse team featuring a 6-foot-4, 220-pound fullback named Mike Hull; a flanker named Jim Lawrence, who can do the 100 in 9.6 seconds; O. J. Simpson another nine-second man, and linemen who can move a house.

In the television game (ABC-TV, 4 p.m. EDT), the Texas Aggies will present the strongest threat to the conference title since Paul "Bear" Bryant left to go to Alabama. The Aggies have a good quarterback in Edd Hargett and excellent receivers in Tommy Maxwell and Tommy Buckman. SMU has been hit hard by graduation.

In other leading games, the Washington Huskies are a slight favorite over hefty Nebraska at Seattle, Wash., Oregon State is conceded a small edge over Stanford at Portland, Ore.; Duke is favored over Wake Forest at Raleigh, N.C.; Oklahoma State rates a touchdown over the Air Force Academy at Stillwater, Okla.; North Carolina State is picked to beat North Carolina and California favored over Oregon at Berkeley, Calif.

AL Playoff Possibilities Drawn Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Well, it won't be as bad as everyone joked, should the American League pennant race end in a four-way tie.

League president Joe Cronin announced Thursday in New York any playoff would start Monday, Oct. 2, the day after the season ends. The improbable four-way deadlock would require three best-of-three series with completion no later than Oct. 7, setting the World Series back only five days to Oct. 9.

The four contenders—Minnesota, Detroit, Boston and Chicago—met with Cronin and tossed the coin in the event of two, three, or four-way ties. Detroit won with the advantage of playing two of three games at home in a first playoff.

The Tigers would be matched with Chicago and Minnnesota with Boston in the event of a four-way knot, the winners meeting in a best-of-three set. The first and third games between the Tigers and White Sox would be played in Detroit, the second in Chicago; the first and third in a series between the Twins and Red Sox would be in Boston, the second in Minnesota.

Columbus Hockey Team Staying Despite Losses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The men who operate the Columbus Checkers are optimistic that ice hockey is in the Capital City to stay.

"We took a financial beating last year but feel we made great inroads," said Jerome H. (Jerry) Schmelzer, the executive vice president of the International Hockey League club.

Schmelzer is reluctant to say just how much the Columbus franchise cost its owners in the first year of operation. But he admits losses were in six figures.

"Our immediate objective is to make hockey go over here on a minor league level. Our ultimate goal is to bring a National Hockey League team to Columbus."

"It takes salesmanship," the Checker official said. "last year we won fans—but we won them one by one."

Schmelzer, and his brothers Ray and Larry, who operate out of Cleveland, own controlling interest in the Checkers.

"Our biggest task," he said, "has been to educate the sports-minded public to hockey. I estimate that only about one per cent of the Columbus population had ever seen live hockey before last year."

Why did the Schmelzers bring hockey to Columbus?

"We've always been hockey fans in Cleveland and felt that the body contact involved in the sport would intrigue fans who have such a keen interest in football. We saw Columbus as a potential market because it's the fastest growing city in Ohio."

The Checkers finished last in the IHL last year and Schmelzer is willing to take most of the blame.

Two other Ohio cities have clubs in the seven - member league—Dayton and Toledo. Attendance in those cities bears out Schmelzer's contention of spectator interest.

Dayton, which won the IHL title last season, averaged 4,100 a game in only its third year of operation. Toledo's attendance soared to 119,000 from the 67,000 fans the Blades drew in 1965.

Ryan, Collins Injured, Both Expected To Play

CLEVELAND (AP) — Passer Frank Ryan and one of his favorite receivers, Gary Collins, both were on the injured list today as the Cleveland Browns tuned up for Sunday's season opener with the Dallas Cowboys. Both players said they would be ready Sunday.

It was near the end of the practice that Ryan called a pass play, started to move back into the pocket, then turned the ankle and went down.

He was on his feet right away for one more play, but the ankle had swollen considerably by the time trainer Leo Murphy got him to the clubhouse at Fleming Field. Murphy applied ice, then taped the ankle.

Colling also got the ice treatment after pulling the muscle. He said he had been experiencing "a little soreness there for a couple of days.

"Then I made a cut," the receiver continued, "and had a sharp pain. I decided to stop before it got worse."

Collins went to Dr. Vic Ippolito, the team physician, who prescribed rest and said he should be ready by Sunday.

OUT FOR YEAR. Tony Conigliaro of the Boston Red Sox leaves the Retina Center at the Boston Eye and Ear Infirmary after being told he would be unable to play the rest of the season. Conigliaro has had defective vision since being beaned by a Jack Hamilton pitch last month. (UPI Telephoto)

Reserve Game Postponed

The East Liverpool High reserve football team's game scheduled for tomorrow at Youngstown Cardinal Mooney has been postponed.

Reserve coach Frank Moss said that Cardinal Mooney wished to change the time of the game, which East Liverpool was unable to do. Moss said the game may be rescheduled at a later date.

Twins, Chicago Clash In Series

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox, whose ability to win with a minimum of runs is beginning to reach ridiculous proportions, have picked up a new and unexpected rooter.

For the second time in as many days, the White Sox, in fourth place in the tight American League pennant scramble, went into extra innings in a scoreless tie with Cleveland Thursday, and for the second time, they came out winners. The score was 4-0.

Today, the Sox open a three-game series with Minnesota, tied with Boston for the league lead, and the heavy-hitting Twins aren't likely to give Chicago all those extra innings to get some runs.

Somebody who hopes the Sox score early and often is Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers, who are in third place, a game behind Boston and Minnesota.

"This is the first time all year I'll be rooting for Stanky," said Kaline of Chicago Manager Eddie Stanky. The Tigers have no more games left with the Twins and must depend on the other clubs to help out by beating the front-runners.

In the only other major league game scheduled Thursday, Atlanta beat the New York Mets 5-4 in the National League.

Chicago and Cleveland, who went 17 innings Wednesday before the White Sox won 1-0, seemed ready to do it again Thursday.

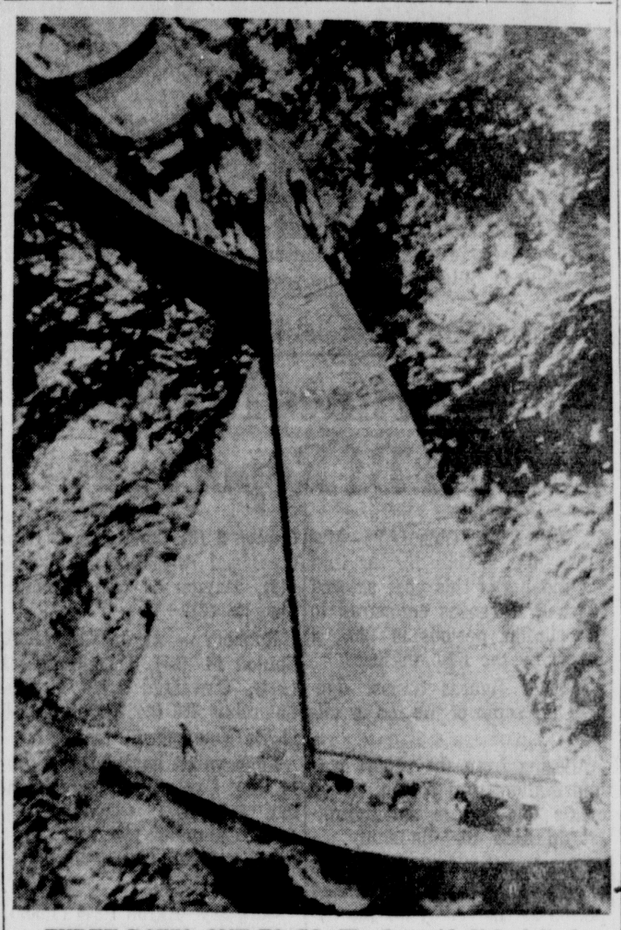
Cisco Carlos, a rookie pitcher just up from Indianapolis, was performing brilliantly on the mound, but the Chicago bats were silent, as is often the case.

Carlos didn't allow a single man past second base for the Indians and surrendered only five hits. Meanwhile, three Cleveland hurlers—Steve Hargan, Stan Williams and Orlando Pena—stopped the Sox until the fateful 10th.

Singles by Ron Hansen and Duane Josephson and an intentional pass to Smoky Burgess loaded the bases with one out. Ken Boyer struck out, but then Pena delivered a grand slam home run ball to Don Buford and that ended it.

Chicago now is 2½ games behind the front-runners, a difficult but hardly impossible situation to recover from.

The Braves beat the Mets on Mike de la Hoz' two-run single in the ninth. Hank Aaron and Mack Jones homered for the Braves and Ed Kranepool hit a three-run shot for the Mets.



THREE DOWN, ONE TO GO. The Intrepid, U.S. defender of the America's Cup, crosses the finish line to record her third straight win over the Australian Challenger Dame Pattie. (UPI Telephoto)

Intrepid Wins Again, Leads Dame Pattie 3-0

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—The skipper of the Australian challenger Dame Pattie thinks he knows the reason why his craft is trailing American defender Intrepid 0-3 in the best-of-7 series between the 12-meter yachts for the America's Cup.

But it'll take more than a one-day respite to do anything about it.

"Hull design may be the big factor," Jock Sturrock, Dame Pattie's skipper, said today while pondering what else to do about trying to catch Intrepid.

Re-designing the hull, of course, takes considerable time. So, the best Sturrock could do was check his yacht preparatory to the fourth race Saturday.

Dame Pattie decided to raise the blue and white checkered flag calling for no race today immediately after crossing the finish line Thursday well behind the pug-nosed Intrepid for the third straight day.

Intrepid's time margin of victory was 4 minutes, 41 seconds. She won the first race by 5:58 and the second by 3:36.

Bus Mosbacher, the 46-year-old skipper from White Plains, N.Y., provided another masterful performance in winning the third race with his 64-foot American defender in the competition between the sleek, expensive crafts in Rhode Island Sound.

Not even a detour towards a capsized boat that cost her about 20 seconds could prevent Intrepid from streaking away from the blue-hulled, 65-foot challenger. She won by more than one-half mile.

No boat ever has been able to make up an 0-3 deficit in this storied competition for the old mug, held by the United States for 116 years.

Toledo Hens Leading Jets 3 Games To 1

Dave Campbell slugged a tie-breaking, three-run homer in the ninth inning Thursday night to give the Mud Hens a 7-4 victory over Columbus and a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven Governor's Cup series.

The Hens could win their first playoff title ever as they host the Jets in the fifth game tonight. The sixth and seventh games, if necessary, will be played in Columbus.

Reliever Jack DiLauro, the their Toledo pitcher, was credited with Thursday's victory. He came on in the ninth.

Dilauro also was used in relief Wednesday night, retiring the last six Jets to preserve a victory.

Dies Of Leukemia

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Walter Bond, 28, former first baseman-outfielder for the Houston Astros baseball team, died of leukemia Thursday. Bond was traded to the Minnesota Twins in the spring of 1966. But his best year in the major leagues was with Houston in 1964 when he drove in 85 runs, a club record which stood for three years.

Bruce Devlin Fires 65, Leads Whitemarsh Golf

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bruce Devlin said he has to do it again to believe it.

The 29-year-old Australian shot a seven-under-par 35-30—65 Thursday to take a two-stroke lead into today's second round of the $110,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic.

"I've been playing so bad I couldn't even beat my grandmother," said the blond Aussie after posting a two-stroke edge over Lou Graham and Bill Collins in the 72-hole test for the $22,000 first prize money.

Devlin toyed with the 6,708-yard, par-72 Whitemarsh Valley Country Club course.

Dropping his hands slightly on the putter in an effort to overcome his "terrible slump," he rolled in several long putts including a 35-footer on the 18th green.

"Let's wait and see if I can do it again before we get excited," said the cautious Devlin.

Graham, a 6-footer from Nashville, Tenn., carded five birdies and completed the rest in regulation for a 34-33—67.

Collins, a 39-year-old club pro from Brae Burn, N.Y., who plays in about seven or eight tournaments a year, tied a 1967 PGA record when he ran off six straight birdies in his round of 35-32—67.

Another stroke back at 68 are Gay Brewer, Miller Barber, Terry Dill, George Archer, Rocky Thompson, Bob Charles and Mason Rudolph, who had a 72-foot eagle putt. Wes Ellis Jr., Billy Maxwell, Lee Trevino, Billy Casper, Bob Verwey and Joel Goldstrand are at 69.

Arnold Palmer is in a group at 70 while Gary Player, who had a triple-bogey on the par-3 fourth hole, shot an opening 73. Defending champion Don January, the 1967 PGA king, withdrew becuse of "complete fatigue" after shooting a 77.

Turbine Car To Be Banned At 500 Race

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The U.S. Auto Club has indirectly banned the controversial turbine car in next year's Indianapolis 500-mile race, but the car's owner and builder says it will be entered anyway.

Anthony Granatelli told the Los Angeles Times: "I have no intention of running any other car. I will be there with the same car . . . the same engine and the same chassis."

In the 1967 race the Granatelli jet car piloted by Parnelli Jones had bearing trouble and was forced out. But the USAC later ruled the car ineligible by placing limitations on the turbine engine.

UCLA, Texas A&M Picks

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

UCLA and its celebrated quarterback, Gary Beban, rule an uneasy four-point favorite over rebounding Tennessee Saturday in the Los Angeles game that highlights college football's first busy weekend.

Texas A&M is a 10-point choice over Southern Methodist in the nationally televised feakture at College Station, Tex., and both Southern California and Colorado are favored in contests involving teams expected to finish among the Top Ten in the country.

Southern Cal, seventh in the preseason poll of The Associated Press, is a six-point choice over Washington State in a Friday night game in Los Angeles, and Colorado, rated 10th, is rated nine points over Baylor at Boulder, Colo.

UCLA, with a 9-1 record last year, and Tennessee, 7-3 and winner over Syracuse in the Gator Bowl, are also rated among the year's best—UCLA picked eighth by a panel of experts and the Volunteers ninth.

Beban, a scrambling signal-caller who runs as well as he passes and who is advance favorite for Heisman Trophy honors, completed 156 of 309 passes during his first two seasons for 2,728 yards and ran for an additional 1,042 yards. He has scored 148 points.

Tennessee's antidote to Beban is a sharpshooting passer named Dewey Warren, who specialized in the bomb. Weekend's Grid Menu Of 12 Games Topped By Potter, Beaver Battles

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Area high school grid fans have a varied menu to choose from this weekend, with seven games slated for tonight and five more tomorrow night.

A crippled East Liverpool team hosts Midland at 7:45 at Patterson Field, Oak Glen treks to Wellsburg, Lisbon is home to Youngstown North, Carrollton is at Columbiana, West Branch will show at East Palestine, Springfield Local visits Southern Local and United is on the road at Sebring in tonight's contests.

Potter Brochures Available Tonight

Season ticket holders to East Liverpool High football games may pick up their Potter brochures inside the main entrance at tonight's game vs. Midland at Patterson Field.

Tomorrow night Beaver Local hosts Leetonia, Stanton Local will be at Mt. Pleasant, West Allegheny will meet Western Beaver at Midland, Crestview entertains Southington and South Side Beaver travels to Avalon.

Beaver Local dropped its opener 14-0 at Columbiana last week, while Leetonia edged United 19-16 when Ed Casey scored with 50 seconds left. Beaver Coach Don Ross said that his squad was disappointed after their loss to Columbiana, whom they outgained. "We played well the first half, but let down in the second," Ross said. "We had our chances, but passes missed open receivers. A dry field would have helped us."

The Beavers sustained no injuries in the contest, and the only player who might not be ready for Saturday's game is Bill Cole, who is sick. Sam Hall will be at tight end if Cole can't play. Ross expects to start the same lineup against Leetonia that faced Columbiana, which includes Dennis Klembara at quarterback and Ron Downard and Dan Myers at halfbacks.

"If we can stop fullback Danny Bell and quarterback Ed Casey we should be all right," Ross says. Another tough Beaver Local. David Morris is the big gun in the Clippers ground attack, while George Lynn anchors a stout defense. The two teams did not meet last year.

East Palestine shoots for its second in a row against West Branch. The Bulldogs topped Canfield 16-12 behind the offensive and defensive play of Jim Taucher in the opener. West Branch beat Marlington 20-0 in its opener. West Branch defeated East Palestine 16-8 last year.

An inexperienced Southern Local team will try to rebound from its 27-6 loss to Lisbon against Springfield Local (Jefferson County). The Indians managed only 89 yards total offense last week. Springfield won last year 26-0.

United, edged in the last minute by Leetonia, travels to Sebring. Sebring won 22-14 a year ago. Tom Wood is the big rushing threat for United. Sebring dropped its opener 6-0 to Champion.

Western Beaver appears to be a much improved club over last year's 2-7 aggregation, but will have to have a good game to beat West Allegheny, a Class A school that was an easy winner in its opener over Penn Jt. West Allegheny has a strong line. The Golden Beavers are at full strength, as Bob Turyan, who suffered an ankle injury in the 25-0 loss at Midland, will be ready to go.

South Side Beaver takes on its first Class B opponent of the season, Crafton. The Rams were outweighed by Donora, which topped them 30-7. Tom Doak, the quarterback, will lead the veteran team.

Stanton Local puts a 10-game winning streak on the line at Mt. Pleasant. The Red Raiders rallied to beat Hopedale last week 19-6.

Crestview, a 40-6 loser to Mineral Ridge in the opener, will try to even its record against Southington, which won 36-32 a year ago. The game is the opener for Southington.

Lisbon, a 27-6 winner in its opener over Southern Local, has matched its victory total of last year and is gunning for number two against Youngstown North. The Blue Devils, with long-time coach Bud Bucher back at the helm after a two-year absence, showed a strong ground attack in the opener, rolling up 195 yards. North coach Clifford Knox, in his first year on the job, fears John Morgan, the Blue Devils' 221 - pound fullback. Randy Muntean is also another running threat behind a veteran line for Lisbon.

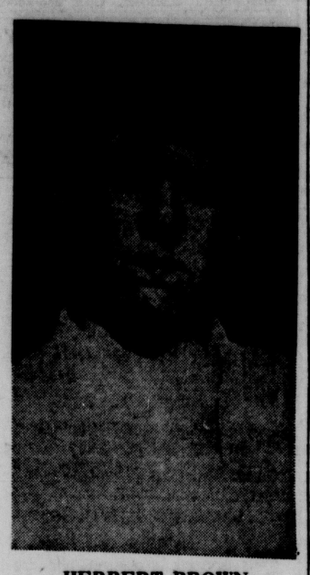
This game will be the season opener for North, which has quarterback problems with regular Sidney Cornwell out with a broken thumb. Larry Williams or Burnice Hairston will handle the job.

Carrollton opened with a 20-6 win over Poland, while Columbiana will be after its second win also after a 14-0 conquest of is Jim DeJane, who scored twice against United.

Oak Glen will be playing its first game in 15 days. The Golden Bears opened with a 20-7 loss to Weirton Madonna. Wellsburg was thrashed by Wheeling Central 30-0 in its opener but rebounded last week to upset Moundsville 21-6. Halfback Ron Ujcich ran for two scores and passes for the third for the Orangemen. Last year Wellsburg won 33-7 over Oak Glen, and Golden Bear Coach Bob Starkey predicts the Orange will be tough again.

The Golden Bears are at full strength for the game, and John Ludovici, 219-pound tackle that missed the Madonna game, will be in the lineup.

The Golden Bears this year are selecting outstanding players from each game. Alan Six, who gained 70 yards, was named outstanding offensive back, Rich Gogal was tabbed as the outstanding offensive lineman, Tom McGeehan was cited as outstanding defensive lineman and Harold Marshall was selected as the outstanding defensive back for the Madonna contest.



HERBERT BROWN

Industry Area Boy Karate Ace

Herbert C. Brown, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noble C. Brown of Tusca Rd., Industry RD 1, and grandson of the late Capt. Herbert P. Norris of the Midland Police Department, and Mrs. Norris of Lisbon, achieved the yellow belt of karate during competition Tuesday night at the Calcutta Karate Club.

About 90 entered the competition; Herbert is the only boy of his age in the Beaver Valley to hold this distinction.

Herbert, an eighth grader at Western Beaver High School, receives instruction at the club from Jerry Banks and Ronald White of Youngstown, both black belt teachers in Oriental arts.

Herbert started to study karate one year ago to fulfill a dream of Capt. Norris who had a great knowledge of Oriental arts and hoped his namesake would continue it. Herbert's ambition is to obtain the black belt in karate and also study other forms of Oriental arts.

A happy possessor of the yellow belt distinction, Herbert said strict discipline of mind and body is required. His hands and feet are now considered weapons since he is able to break bricks and boards with blows.

Steelers, Cowboys Picked

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — It's time to start the weekly pro football guessing game with the National Football League opening its regular season Sunday and the AFL already into its third week.

All games are played Sunday afternoon this week.

NFL

Baltimore 31, Atlanta 14—Colts coming up to opener smartly with impressive exhibition win over Dallas. John Unitas on the beam. Falcons showed little offense against Vikings and Saints.

Pittsburgh 13, Chicago 7—A real tough one. Steelers on rebuilding program. Bears have come back from disaster at Kansas City and are always dangerous with Gale Sayers in the line-up. We like Bill Nelsen over the Bears' quarterbacks.

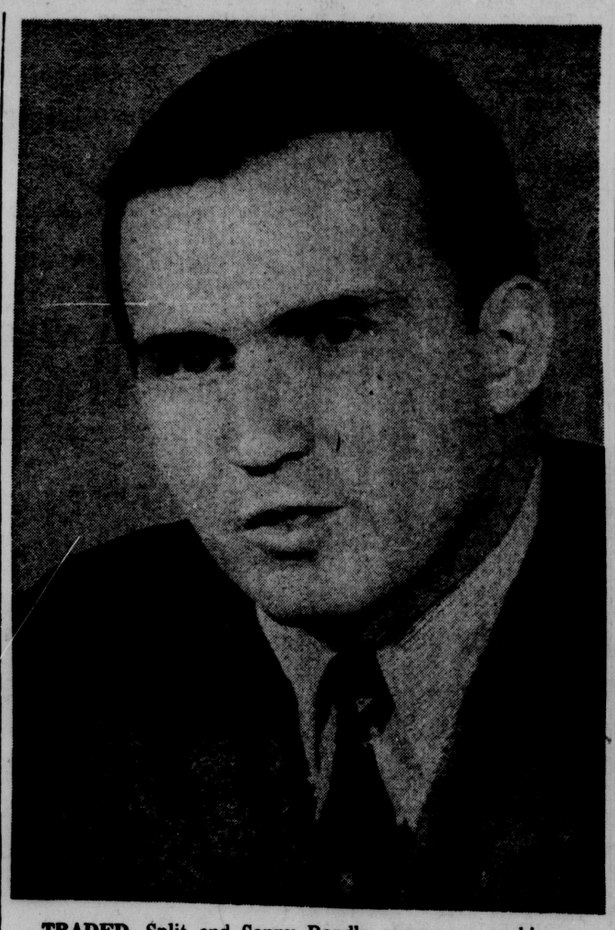
Dallas 28, Cleveland 21—An upset. Cowboys have been slow to jell this year. Browns floundered through five games but really bombed Vikings last week. Two clubs split in 1966. Dallas will be different club now that they count.

Green Bay 27, Detroit 10—Packers have perfect 6-0 exhibition record and have beaten Lions in five of their last six. Lombardi gets off winging toward another title, but Lions always are tough in this traditional series.

Los Angeles 31, New Orleans 14—George Allen shooting for all the marbles this year after impressive pre-season 6-0 record. Rams beat Saints 16-7 in Aug. 2 exhibition.

New York 17, St. Louis 14—Another upset. Giants have chance to whip Cards without Charley Johnson, despite ever-changing defensive personnel.

San Francisco 24, Minnesota 13—The 49ers have been disappointing in preseason, but John Brodie is about due to let the Vikings have it right between the eyes.



TRADED. Split end Sonny Randle announces on his own sports show that he has been traded from the St. Louis Cardinals to the San Francisco 49ers. (UPI Telephoto)

Washington 21, Philadelphia 17—Another one of those long, bitter rivalries. They split in each of last two years.

AFL

Oakland 17, Boston 10—Raiders erupted last week in 5-10 romp over Denver. Boston lost its second straight at San Diego.

Miami 21, Denver 14—The Dolphins took the exhibition game from Denver 19-2, July 29. Should do it again in their first league game. Broncs still shell-shocked.

Buffalo 27, Houston 20—Bills just did pull it out over Jets last week. Oilers gave Kansas City suprisingly though battle before losing 25-20. Jackie Kemp back at the controls.

Fight Results

Westgate Gridders Win Opener

A stout defense, led by John Lyons, John Connell and Bob Deem, kept Weirton bottled up during most of the contest. The Little Blue Dons gained little yardage on the ground and completed only two passes. March and Clete Payne intercepted passes for the Wildcats.

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Area high school grid fans have a varied menu to choose from this weekend, with seven games slated for tonight and five more tomorrow night.

A crippled East Liverpool team hosts Midland at 7:45 at Patterson Field, Oak Glen treks to Wellsburg, Lisbon is home to Youngstown North, Carrollton is at Columbiana, West Branch will show at East Palestine, Springfield Local visits Southern Local and United is on the road at Sebring in tonight's contests.

Tomorrow night Beaver Local hosts Leetonia, Stanton Local will be at Mt. Pleasant, West Allegheny will meet Western Beaver at Midland, Crestview entertains Southington and South Side Beaver travels to Avalon.

Beaver Local dropped its opener 14-0 at Columbiana last week, while Leetonia edged United 19-16 when Ed Casey scored with 50 seconds left. Beaver Coach Don Ross said that his squad was disappointed after their loss to Columbiana, whom they outgained. "We played well the first half, but let down in the second," Ross said. "We had our chances, but passes missed open receivers. A dry field would have helped us."

The Beavers sustained no injuries in the contest, and the only player who might not be ready for Saturday's game is Bill Cole, who is sick. Sam Hall will be at tight end if Cole can't play. Ross expects to start the same lineup against Leetonia that faced Columbiana, which includes Dennis Klembara at quarterback and Ron Downard and Dan Myers at halfbacks.

"If we can stop fullback Danny Bell and quarterback Ed Casey we should be all right," Ross says. Another tough Beaver is Jim DeJane, who scored twice against United.

Oak Glen will be playing its first game in 15 days. The Golden Bears opened with a 20-7 loss to Weirton Madonna. Wellsburg was thrashed by Wheeling Central 30-0 in its opener but rebounded last week to upset Moundsville 21-6. Halfback Ron Ujcich ran for two scores and passes for the third for the Orangemen. Last year Wellsburg won 33-7 over Oak Glen, and Golden Bear Coach Bob Starkey predicts the Orange will be tough again.

The Golden Bears are at full strength for the game, and John Ludovici, 219-pound tackle that missed the Madonna game, will be in the lineup.

The Golden Bears this year are selecting outstanding players from each game. Alan Six, who gained 70 yards, was named outstanding offensive back, Rich Gogal was tabbed as the outstanding offensive lineman, Tom McGeehan was cited as outstanding defensive lineman and Harold Marshall was selected as the outstanding defensive back for the Madonna contest.

Lisbon, a 27-6 winner in its opener over Southern Local, has matched its victory total of last year and is gunning for number two against Youngstown North. The Blue Devils, with long-time coach Bud Bucher back at the helm after a two-year absence, showed a strong ground attack in the opener, rolling up 195 yards. North coach Clifford Knox, in his first year on the job, fears John Morgan, the Blue Devils' 221 - pound fullback. Randy Muntean is also another running threat behind a veteran line for Lisbon.

This game will be the season opener for North, which has quarterback problems with regular Sidney Cornwell out with a broken thumb. Larry Williams or Burnice Hairston will handle the job.

Carrollton opened with a 20-6 win over Poland, while Columbiana will be after its second win also after a 14-0 conquest of Beaver Local. David Morris is the big gun in the Clippers ground attack, while George Lynn anchors a stout defense. The two teams did not meet last year.

East Palestine shoots for its second in a row against West Branch. The Bulldogs topped Canfield 16-12 behind the offensive and defensive play of Jim Taucher in the opener. West Branch beat Marlington 20-0 in its opener. West Branch defeated East Palestine 16-8 last year.

An inexperienced Southern Local team will try to rebound from its 27-6 loss to Lisbon against Springfield Local (Jefferson County). The Indians managed only 89 yards total offense last week. Springfield won last year 26-0.

United, edged in the last minute by Leetonia, travels to Sebring. Sebring won 22-14 a year ago. Tom Wood is the big rushing threat for United. Sebring dropped its opener 6-0 to Champion.

Western Beaver appears to be a much improved club over last year's 2-7 aggregation, but will have to have a good game to beat West Allegheny, a Class A school that was an easy winner in its opener over Penn Jt. West Allegheny has a strong line. The Golden Beavers are at full strength, as Bob Turyan, who suffered an ankle injury in the 25-0 loss at Midland, will be ready to go.

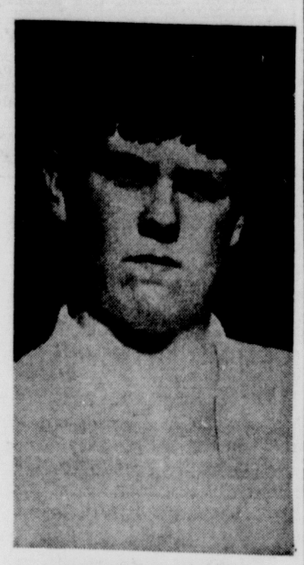
South Side Beaver takes on its first Class B opponent of the season, Crafton. The Rams were outweighed by Donora, which topped them 30-7. Tom Doak, the quarterback, will lead the veteran team.

Stanton Local puts a 10-game winning streak on the line at Mt. Pleasant. The Red Raiders rallied to beat Hopedale last week 19-6.

Crestview, a 40-6 loser to Mineral Ridge in the opener, will try to even its record against Southington, which won 36-32 a year ago. The game is the opener for Southington.

Potter Brochures Available Tonight

Season ticket holders to East Liverpool High football games may pick up their Potter brochures inside the main entrance at tonight's game vs. Midland at Patterson Field.



HERBERT BROWN

Industry Area Boy Karate Ace

Herbert C. Brown, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noble C. Brown of Tusca Rd., Industry RD 1, and grandson of the late Capt. Herbert P. Norris of the Midland Police Department, and Mrs. Norris of Lisbon, achieved the yellow belt of karate during competition Tuesday night at the Calcutta Karate Club.

About 90 entered the competition; Herbert is the only boy of his age in the Beaver Valley to hold this distinction.

Herbert, an eighth grader at Western Beaver High School, receives instruction at the club from Jerry Banks and Ronald White of Youngstown, both black belt teachers in Oriental arts.

Herbert started to study karate one year ago to fulfill a dream of Capt. Norris who had a great knowledge of Oriental arts and hoped his namesake would continue it. Herbert's ambition is to obtain the black belt in karate and also study other forms of Oriental arts.

A happy possessor of the yellow belt distinction, Herbert said strict discipline of mind and body is required. His hands and feet are now considered weapons since he is able to break bricks and boards with blows.

Hercules, Earl Gilbert Top Shoot

In high guns at 16 yards George Hercules and Earl Gilbert made perfect scores of 25 at the shoot of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Club Wednesday night at the club house on the Elkton Rd.

Winners on red birds were Glenn Ramsey, Norman Rambo, George Dudick, Gary Tolson and Ray Thompson. Protector winners were Thompson and Earl Burlingame; Tolson and Thompson; Luther Adkins and Hercules; Walter Corbin and Thompson; Ray Goodman and Hercules.

Paul Saling was elected president at a meeting Monday night. Other officers chosen were: Norman Rambo, vice president; Lewis McIntosh, secretary; Earl Burlingame, treasurer; Harold Walton, Ray Thompson and Glenn Ramsey, trustees.

The club meets the second Monday of each month and shoots are held Sunday at 1 p.m. and Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Steelers, Cowboys Picked

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — It's time to start the weekly pro football guessing game with the National Football League opening its regular season Sunday and the AFL already into its third week.

All games are played Sunday afternoon this week.

NFL

Baltimore 31, Atlanta 14—Colts coming up to opener smartly with impressive exhibition win over Dallas. John Unitas on the beam. Falcons showed little offense against Vikings and Saints.

Pittsburgh 13, Chicago 7—A real tough one. Steelers on rebuilding program. Bears have come back from disaster at Kansas City and are always dangerous with Gale Sayers in the line-up. We like Bill Nelsen over the Bears' quarterbacks.

Dallas 28, Cleveland 21—An upset. Cowboys have been slow to jell this year. Browns floundered through five games but really bombed Vikings last week. Two clubs split in 1966. Dallas will be different club now that they count.

Green Bay 27, Detroit 10—Packers have perfect 6-0 exhibition record and have beaten Lions in five of their last six. Lombardi gets off winging toward another title, but Lions always are tough in this traditional series.

Los Angeles 31, New Orleans 14—George Allen shooting for all the marbles this year after impressive pre-season 6-0 record. Rams beat Saints 16-7 in Aug. 2 exhibition.

New York 17, St. Louis 14—Another upset. Giants have chance to whip Cards without Charley Johnson, despite ever-changing defensive personnel.

San Francisco 24, Minnesota 13—The 49ers have been disappointing in preseason, but John Brodie is about due to let the Vikings have it right between the eyes.

TRADED. Split end Sonny Randle announces on his own sports show that he has been traded from the St. Louis Cardinals to the San Francisco 49ers. (UPI Telephoto)

Washington 21, Philadelphia 17—Another one of those long, bitter rivalries. They split in each of last two years.

AFL

Oakland 17, Boston 10—Raiders erupted last week in 5-10 romp over Denver. Boston lost its second straight at San Diego.

Miami 21, Denver 14—The Dolphins took the exhibition game from Denver 19-2, July 29. Should do it again in their first league game. Broncs still shell-shocked.

Buffalo 27, Houston 20—Bills just did pull it out over Jets last week. Oilers gave Kansas City suprisingly though battle before losing 25-20. Jackie Kemp back at the controls.

Fight Results

Westgate Gridders Win Opener

A stout defense, led by John Lyons, John Connell and Bob Deem, kept Weirton bottled up during most of the contest. The Little Blue Dons gained little yardage on the ground and completed only two passes. March and Clete Payne intercepted passes for the Wildcats.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Husband Regains Young Look

A woman will go on a diet at the drop of a hint, but overweight men are often strongly resistant to dietary changes. When feminine tact, culinary ingenuity and all other measures failed, one wife appealed to her husband's vanity on the age score. She reports:

Ida Jean Kain

"I hope our experience will help someone else. Not until my husband was shamed into losing weight would he take action. Despite the doctor's admonition, he continued to overeat and gain. He's a young man, 34, 5 feet 6 tall and weighed 180 pounds. He's in the Navy and looked terrible in his uniform. He looked so much older than his age that once he was mistaken for my father! That did it. I am eight years older than he is. I have kept my figure trim and I have boundless pep and energy, and frequently I am told that I look much younger than my age.

"I have always cooked sensibly, but he couldn't resist second and third helpings. Worst of all were the snacks — the banana splits and candy bars.

"When he continued to gain, I became ashamed to take him places and finally I got up the courage to tell him so. This frank discussion jolted him. Because he loves me, he buckled down and took off 30 excess pounds. The change in his appearance and in his energy are amazing. He looks young. He has a sense of pride in himself that he never had before. It has even made a new woman of me. You might condense this and say our lives our changed and we are both happy," she concluded.

MANY THANKS for sharing. Congratulations to your husband for accepting the challenge. Yes, he does love you.

Now, for some dietary measures: To break the second helping habit, remove the temptation. After everyone has been served, remove the serving dishes from the table. No comment. The less said about diet, the better. Good food need not be fattening. Plan well balanced meals and learn to cook with fewer calories. Routinely use skim milk or skimmed milk in recipes. If a recipe calls for sour cream, substitute buttermilk. For example, beef stroganoff made with buttermilk is delicious.

The food industry has brought out a pleasing variety of low-calorie foods. Look for these special foods in the dietary section of the grocery store.

It's a young man's world today and there is no question but that excess fat padding causes a man to look and feel years older than his age. Will other wives who have succeeded in helping their husbands to reduce and hold the weightline, please report. Desirable weight is the weight that favors long life and good health.

Send stamped, self - addressed, long envelope for the New Calorie Chart. Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of The Review.

AWOL Marine Claims He Killed Two Ohio Boys

CINCINNATI (AP) — Authorities say a 17-year-old AWOL Marine told police officers in San Diego, Calif., Thursday that he killed two suburban Cincinnati boys nearly three years ago.

San Diego police said no charges were filed against the Marine, Pvt. Gary Lee McKee of Fairfax, Ohio. They said he was expected to appear in juvenile court there today and may be transferred to an adult court.

Police in Fairfax, a Cincinnati suburb, said they would begin searching this morning for the bodies of the missing boys, James McQueary and John Hundley, both 9 when they disappeared.

Police homicide Lt. Edward C. Stevens of San Diego said McKee told officers he knifed the two boys to death and buried their bodies in a wooded area.

No trace has been found of the two boys since they vanished Oct. 15, 1964. Their disappearance, coming barely 10 weeks after 3-year-old Debbie Dappen's body was found under a neighbor's porch, touched off near panic among parents in Fairfax.

Police Chief James Finan of Fairfax said the place where the bodies and the knife allegedly were buried is in an area that has since been developed.

Milwaukee Set For Possibility Of More Riots

About 50 police officers wearing riot helmets and carrying night sticks patrolled the troubled South Side area after two straight nights of violence.

Some 200 Negro open housing marchers trooped from their headquarters in the Inner Core toward the South Side, where they had been stoned earlier in the week. Then they turned down Milwaukee's main street, Wisconsin Avenue, to City Hall. They circled the building and returned to the Inner Core without incident.

The Rev. James E. Groppi, a white Roman Catholic priest and adviser to the Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has vowed he will continue the open housing demonstrations until the Common Council enacts an open housing code. The council has rejected an open housing code four times.

Pittsburgh Triplets Born Prematurely Die

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Triplets born three months prematurely have died.

The last two, a boy and a girl born Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. John Dowler of Baldwin, died Thursday. The smallest, a 1-pound 12-ounce girl, died Wednesday night.

The wind must blow more than 75 miles an hour to be called a hurricane.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Husband Regains Young Look

A woman will go on a diet at the drop of a hint, but overweight men are often strongly resistant to dietary changes. When feminine tact, culinary ingenuity and all other measures failed, one wife appealed to her husband's vanity on the age score. She reports:

Ida Jean Kain

"I hope our experience will help someone else. Not until my husband was shamed into losing weight would he take action. Despite the doctor's admonition, he continued to overeat and gain. He's a young man, 34, 5 feet 6 tall and weighed 180 pounds. He's in the Navy and looked terrible in his uniform. He looked so much older than his age that once he was mistaken for my father! That did it. I am eight years older than he is. I have kept my figure trim and I have boundless pep and energy, and frequently I am told that I look much younger than my age.

"I have always cooked sensibly, but he couldn't resist second and third helpings. Worst of all were the snacks — the banana splits and candy bars.

"When he continued to gain, I became ashamed to take him places and finally I got up the courage to tell him so. This frank discussion jolted him. Because he loves me, he buckled down and took off 30 excess pounds. The change in his appearance and in his energy are amazing. He looks young. He has a sense of pride in himself that he never had before. It has even made a new woman of me. You might condense this and say our lives our changed and we are both happy," she concluded.

MANY THANKS for sharing. Congratulations to your husband for accepting the challenge. Yes, he does love you.

Now, for some dietary measures: To break the second helping habit, remove the temptation. After everyone has been served, remove the serving dishes from the table. No comment. The less said about diet, the better. Good food need not be fattening. Plan well balanced meals and learn to cook with fewer calories. Routinely use skim milk or skimmed milk in recipes. If a recipe calls for sour cream, substitute buttermilk. For example, beef stroganoff made with buttermilk is delicious.

The food industry has brought out a pleasing variety of low-calorie foods. Look for these special foods in the dietary section of the grocery store.

It's a young man's world today and there is no question but that excess fat padding causes a man to look and feel years older than his age. Will other wives who have succeeded in helping their husbands to reduce and hold the weightline, please report. Desirable weight is the weight that favors long life and good health.

Send stamped, self - addressed, long envelope for the New Calorie Chart. Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of The Review.

AWOL Marine Claims He Killed Two Ohio Boys

CINCINNATI (AP) — Authorities say a 17-year-old AWOL Marine told police officers in San Diego, Calif., Thursday that he killed two suburban Cincinnati boys nearly three years ago.

San Diego police said no charges were filed against the Marine, Pvt. Gary Lee McKee of Fairfax, Ohio. They said he was expected to appear in juvenile court there today and may be transferred to an adult court.

Police in Fairfax, a Cincinnati suburb, said they would begin searching this morning for the bodies of the missing boys, James McQueary and John Hundley, both 9 when they disappeared.

Police homicide Lt. Edward C. Stevens of San Diego said McKee told officers he knifed the two boys to death and buried their bodies in a wooded area.

No trace has been found of the two boys since they vanished Oct. 15, 1964. Their disappearance, coming barely 10 weeks after 3-year-old Debbie Dappen's body was found under a neighbor's porch, touched off near panic among parents in Fairfax.

Police Chief James Finan of Fairfax said the place where the bodies and the knife allegedly were buried is in an area that has since been developed.

Milwaukee Set For Possibility Of More Riots

The city was relatively calm Thursday after four nights of battles between brick and bottle throwing whites and police firing tear gas.

About 50 police officers wearing riot helmets and carrying night sticks patrolled the troubled South Side area after two straight nights of violence.

Some 200 Negro open housing marchers trooped from their headquarters in the Inner Core toward the South Side, where they had been stoned earlier in the week. Then they turned down Milwaukee's main street, Wisconsin Avenue, to City Hall. They circled the building and returned to the Inner Core without incident.

The Rev. James E. Groppi, a white Roman Catholic priest and adviser to the Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has vowed he will continue the open housing demonstrations until the Common Council enacts an open housing code. The council has rejected an open housing code four times.

Pittsburgh Triplets Born Prematurely Die

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Triplets born three months prematurely have died.

The last two, a boy and a girl born Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. John Dowler of Baldwin, died Thursday. The smallest, a 1-pound 12-ounce girl, died Wednesday night.

Junior Editors Quiz on OIL

QUESTION: Why does oil float on water?

ANSWER: When water comes pouring out of the tap and runs so easily over your hands, it doesn't seem to have much weight. That's why Janet, above, thought it would lie on top of oil, which looks heavier, perhaps because you can hardly see through it. Fill a glass with water, however, and lift it with one hand, and you will realize that water has definite weight. This is because the molecules, or tiny particles comprising water, are quite closely packed together. Scientists speak of this as density. With so many particles, a dense substance is heavy when it is within reach of the earth's gravitation, which tends to pull the particles down. In the case of oil, the particles are not packed in so closely; so oil is less dense. Consequently, it is less heavy. Naturally, the heavier fluid is pulled down below the lighter one; so oil, which does not mix with water, floats on top of it. If liquid mercury had been added to the jar, it would have sunk to the bottom, because it is 13.55 times as heavy as water. The water would have made a middle layer, with the oil on top.
